Hail, Snow And Tornadoes Pay Visit To Middle West

LIGHT FROST IS FORECAST FOR TONIGHT

Number of Deaths Increased to Five As Result of Snowstorm and Cyclone

AIRPLANE CRASHES

Canadian Provinces Covered By Snow and Ice—Montana Gets Half Inch

CHICAGO, Sept. 26.—(UP)—The first frost of the season may freeze the upper Mississippi and lower Mississippi valleys tonight, further mixing up the diverse brands of weather which have befallen the middle west in the last 24 hours.

The number of deaths attributed to the snow, wind and cold increased to five today, two in the Missouri valley as a result of tornadoes, and three in Canada when an airplane crashed in a snowstorm.

Thin blankets of snow in the northwest and west, a hailstorm in Keokuk, Ia., falling temperatures generally, and a near cloudburst at Iowa City, Ia., were other signs of tempestuous change from summer to fall.

Tonight's frost probably will be light, the weather bureau said. Storm warnings were posted for all the Great Lakes and strong northwesterly winds were predicted with showers and thunderstorms likely.

Two tornadoes descended simultaneously on the village of Summitville, Ia., last night, unroofing all seven houses there, and swept down on Keokuk, killing J. T. Verducci, 80, when his barn was picked up and destroyed. Mrs. W. M. Webster was killed when the same storm, skipping to Metz, Mo., wrecked her home.

A snowstorm, swept before high winds, caused an airplane to crash near Southwest, Alta., killing Pilot Pat Holden and I. C. McDonald and J. C. Gibson, passengers, all of California.

Canada's prairie provinces were covered by snow and ice. Half an inch of snow fell in Elk Park, Mont., and lighter snows elsewhere in the state. High altitude of Colorado also received snowfall.

The tornado at Keokuk, Ia., was followed by severe hail, which tore down telephone poles and broke windows, while Iowa City reported a five-inch rainfall.

A temperature of 12 degrees above zero was recorded at Prince George, B. C., and marks around freezing at Pueblo, Colo., Goodland, Kans., Lander, Wyo., Santa Fe, N. M., and Miles City, Mont.

STUDIO HEADS GIVE WARNING TO CLARA BOW

Advised to "Watch Her Step" As Result of Scandal Over Gambling

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 26.—(UP)—Clara Bow, warned by moving picture studio officials to "watch her step," was ready to report for work today and forget all about the affair of the stopped checks at a Calneva, Nev., gambling place.

The next move, if any, in collecting $13,900 in checks the actress refused to pay must come from the Calneva resort owners, Miss Bow said.

Miss Bow was not officially reprimanded for the affair, but considerable advice was given her by Henry Herzbrun, Paramount Public attorney, with the warning that her new contract might be jeopardized if she inspired more publicity of a like nature.

The contract, running for one year, was signed August 20 and called for the start of a new picture October 6.

Informed that Calneva owners planned suit to collect on the checks, W. I. Gilbert, attorney for the actress, said, "They're reaching for air."

Will Rogers, host to Miss Bow and Rex Bell at the dinner party which ended in the "It" girl's losses, made it plain today that he wasn't a "house man."

"There is a rumor I'd like to nip in the bud," the cowboy humorist remarked. "I wanta make it clear to all the folks everywhere that I was not working for the house when Clara got nicked."

"If I didn't lure her into the gamblers' clutches. All I lured Clara into was a fancy dinner at the same hotel where the citizens of Nevada, including divorcees and near divorcees, go to eat steaks cooked by a chef imported clear from Reno."

"I'd known my guest was in for a $13,900 gambling beating I'd passed up my usual 9:30 bedtime and put a halter on it."

"As for the lady's obligations on those checks, I haven't a thing to say. I never try to advise folks on their investments, having trouble sufficient with my own. All I know is if I lost $13,900 at one whack I'd simply pass out."

"Speaking of introducing her around the place, it would be best, better for her introducing me. She's famous and I'm only known around a few cow camps and disarmament conferences."

Miss Bow claimed she was given 50-cent pieces to play with and after losing 139 of them learned they represented $100 each.

Latest Northcott Confession Fails To Interest Warden

SAN QUENTIN PRISON, Sept. 26.—(UP)—Gordon Stewart Northcott, convicted slayer of three small boys on his chicken ranch at Riverside, Calif., has played his latest "prank" on the forces of law and order, Warden James B. Holohan said here today.

Fully convinced that the condemned slayer's latest confession that he had murdered 16 boys was just another effort of Northcott's to prove himself insane, Warden Holohan indicated scant attention would be paid to the murderer's "eccentric" spasms in the future.

Third Refueling Contact Made By Supply Airplane

GLENDALE, Calif., Sept. 26.—(UP)—The supply plane Angelino made its third successful refueling contact with the "Pride of Hollywood" in which Loren W. Mendell and R. B. Reinhart are attempting to establish a new world endurance record, at 8:10 a. m. today.

At that time, Mendell and Reinhart, who held the flight record two years ago, had been aloft over the Grand Central air terminal 17 hours and one minute.

Calvin Coolidge Says

BY CALVIN COOLIDGE
Former President of the United States
NORTHAMPTON, Mass., Sept. 26.—Because we do not approve of the aims and objects of the Soviets of Russia is no reason for becoming hysterical. They might cause a temporary flurry by a raid on any of our exchanges but in their present state they are not likely to smother us in wheat. In order to get foreign wheat in here it takes forty-two cents per bushel of real money to pay the duty. It is something of an anomaly that foreign interests can sell on the exchange without paying a duty. But in that kind of operation it is necessary for them to repurchase at a later date. Brokers will therefore demand ample security before executing orders.

But, while avoiding hysteria, we may as well ascertain facts and face them. The legitimate use of our market machinery is one thing. Using it for the purpose of public injury is something else. Investigation shows that foreign sales are made for the purpose of creating artificial prices in the hope of disorganizing our markets, causing depression and loss, with resulting unemployment and public unrest, both our government and our exchanges should act at once to end such operations. But we need not be unduly alarmed. We shall not be overwhelmed.

REPUBLICANS OF NEW YORK URGE REPEAL

Party Platform Calls For Discarding of Present Dry Laws

CONVENTION HALL, ALBANY, N. Y., Sept. 26.—(UP)—The New York state Republican convention today adopted a party platform favoring repeal of the prohibition laws.

The prohibition plank was drafted in an all night session by the committee on rules and resolutions and was passed by the convention by a vote of 733 to 248.

Praise for the Hoover administration and condemnation of recent scandals, especially those involving the judiciary in New York City, was contained in the platform.

President Hoover was commended for his measures to meet economic depression, ratification of the London treaty, passage of the revised tariff bill with a flexible clause, and many other benefits attributed to his administration.

GIRL'S DEATH REPORTED DUE TO OPERATION

Coroner's Jury Decides Treatment Was Criminal

HERMOSA BEACH, Calif., Sept. 26.—(UP)—In a dramatic session at the little white mortuary here, a coroner's jury today held that Vera Nelson, pretty 19-year-old Los Angeles girl, died from a criminal operation performed by Dr. William C. Fiske, 70.

The verdict was read while the sobs of Mrs. Mathilda Nelson, mother of the girl, echoed through the mortuary. The mother started to cry when she viewed the girl's body and continued as she testified as a witness.

Mrs. Nelson's testimony was minor, merely dealing with facts of the girl's birth in San Francisco and her childhood.

"I last saw her September 16 when she left home to go to Dr. Fiske's office in Hermosa Beach," the mother said. "She told me she was going to take some electric treatments for a tumor and asked me not to worry."

Dr. Fiske stood on his rights and declined to testify. He was calm during the inquest, however.

Other witnesses, including the doctor's son-in-law, and officers, gave testimony to the effect that the physician admitted the operation "as a good deed and there was no money in it."

WELCOME ARRANGED FOR FRENCH FLIERS

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 26.—(UP)—With the highest excitement prevailing among the Gallic colony here, where the two noted airmen have relatives, elaborate preparations were being made today to welcome Capt. Dieudonne Coste and Maurice Bellonte, French Atlantic fliers, when they arrive this afternoon from Portland.

Besides the more intimate welcome of cousins and other relatives, the famous aces will receive a typical San Francisco reception, directed by Mayor "Sunny Jim" Rolph Jr.

15 Killed, 50 Hurt When India Police, Volunteers Clash

BOMBAY, India, Sept. 26.—(UP)—Fifteen persons were killed and 50 wounded when a mob of 5000 Indian independence volunteers clashed with police last night at Chitrang forest in the Kolaba district.

Among those killed were a revenue magistrate, an officer of the forest police and three forest guards.

Folks Party Not To Join Socialists

Cabinet Not To Shrink in View of Dictatorship, Says Bruening

BERLIN, Sept. 26.—(UP)—The German parliamentary crisis was more complex today than at any time since the recent Reichstag elections made the Fascist party the second most powerful in the nation, and renewed the threat of a dictatorship.

Close after the sensational statements by Adolph Hitler, Fascist leader, who openly promised changes in the constitution and evasion of international treaty obligations if the Fascist gain power, there were firm declarations from government political quarters.

An announcement, believed to have been inspired by Chancellor Heinrich Bruening, indicated the cabinet would not shrink from an open dictatorship if the new Reichstag failed to give it a majority vote.

Hitler's declaration that, although legal methods would be followed in the rise of the party to power, the constitution would be changed and "despotic heads may then roll in the sun" as well as his avowed intention to use illegal methods to evade the Versailles treaty, had wide reaction throughout the country.

Talk of a dictatorship was greater than at any time since the Reichstag elections, especially because of the decision of the folks party not to compromise with the Socialist party, strongest in the Reichstag, in forming a new cabinet.

This decision, coupled with Hitler's sensational declarations and his prediction that the Fascists would control parliament in the next few years, greatly diminished the hopes of a parliamentary solution of the crisis and made the prospect of "a strong semi-dictatorial" government of experts increasingly likely.

POLICE DATA FOUND IN GANGSTER HOTEL

CHICAGO, Sept. 26.—(UP)—A company of federal and city officials who went hunting for Scarface Al Capone understood today one of the reasons why they didn't find him.

Under a pillow in room 204 of the Carlton hotel, said to be a gangster abode, the police found a confidential memorandum issued by Deputy Chief of Detectives John Ryan to his superior, Chief John Norton.

The list named 31 gangsters, many of them notorious, against whom warrants might be issued. It also named the officers who had been commissioned to arrest each man.

Four copies of the memorandum were made, Deputy Ryan said. One copy for himself, one for Chief Norton, one for the vagrancy bureau and the other for the information of Ryan's secretary, Patrolman William Palewicz.

Spanish Painter Demanding $5000 From Pola Negri

PARIS, Sept. 26.—(UP)—Pola Negri, despite her professed regard for the late Rudolph Valentino, contends that a Spanish painting of Valentino is not worth $5,000.

Lawyers were attempting today to settle a dispute between Miss Negri and a Spanish painter, Bertam Massan. The painter claims he was commissioned by the actress to do her portrait and at her insistence, added a nebulous spirit depiction of Valentino hovering overhead, causing an expression of warm love toward the subject.

The painter demanded $5000, based on the customary charge for a double portrait. Miss Negri refused to pay more than $1000. Massan has threatened to take the matter to court.

YOUNG MOTHER NEEDS AID IF SHE'S TO WIN BRAVE FIGHT AGAINST ENCROACHING DEATH

BY ELEANOR YOUNG ELLIOTT

WE ALL THINK that we have our full share of troubles, don't we? Try as we will to bolster up our courage with the search for silver linings, the memory that the darkest hour is just before the dawn, and all the wise sayings that have almost lost their forcefulness through too constant usage, we all yield once in awhile to the "black bats of worry."

Perhaps it is illness or an accident, or even that temporary parting that we call death. Or maybe it is a series of rather petty things—Johnny's shoes no more than paid for until Mary must have a pair, or both need to be taken to the dentist. And it is nearing the first of the month when bills will come rustling in. We grow discouraged, don't we?

I should like to take you to a little home which I just left here in our own city. And the things that I could show you there, would clutch at your heart until there would be no room for worry about the small troubles.

Unable to Move
For I would show you a little white-faced mother, lying supine upon a bed from which she has no power to move except as that power is supplied by her younger sister, or her husband—little more than a boy himself—or her widowed mother—the only living person to whom she can look for support. I would show you the pitiful little body, white as milk except where cruel sores stand out like spilled blood, the slender legs pitifully outstretched and dead to any feeling and the big blue eyes beneath a crest of tossed red-gold hair, eyes with a trace of puzzled wonder in their depths that such agony of suffering would be sent to one who asked so little of life beyond her her husband, her home and her babies.

Three years ago this girl mother was well and strong and happy. She and her young husband lived in the little Colorado mining town of Bonanza, near Denver. She was only 21 years old, but already she was the mother of a cunning three-year-old daughter, Helen, with her mother's coloring, but not the pretty pretty red-gold hair that glints so in the sun. Christmas was drawing near, and the young

FEDERAL GOVERNMENT STARTS OPEN WAR ON 'SCARFACE AL' CAPONE, CHIEF OF GANGSTERS

CHICAGO, Sept. 26.—(INS)—That the Federal government, acting through Bureau of Internal Revenue agents, has declared open warfare on "Scarface Al" Capone, gang overlord, was the consensus today following two raids on Capone gang headquarters and the arrest of two lieutenants on income tax evasion charges.

Investigation was under way today to trace the travels of a confidential detective Bureau report which federal agents found in a raid on the business headquarters of Capone, in the Carleton hotel last night.

The secret police document, listing 31 gangsters for whom warrants were to be issued, had been prepared at the detective bureau one week ago yesterday. Names of the list included some of the most notorious men in Chicago's gangdom who were to be rounded up in a secret drive.

Internal revenue agents last night seized Harry and Sam Guzik, Capone aides and brothers of Jack Guzik, one of the 26 "public enemies" sought on vagrancy warrants. The two were seized on warrants charging violation of federal income tax laws. Their chauffeur was also seized and held incommunicado.

The two were seized in a loop restaurant said to be one of the downtown headquarters of the Capone gang. Harry Guzik is said by police to be collector for Capone interests in the loop district.

How the police document found its way into the hands of Capone's lieutenants was a mystery which police could not explain today. Investigation showed that three vagrancy copies had been issued, the original to go to Detective Chief John Norton. Norton said he had not received the original.

Federal agents seeking Capone, his brother Ralph, Frank Smith, Capone enforcer, and Frank Hunt, "Golf-Baw" gunman, found the secret list beneath a pillow in a room occupied by Tony Pagano, known to police as a bondsman for the Capone forces. The raid was planned by the special intelligence unit of the internal revenue department.

Twelve hangers-on were taken to the detective bureau for questioning. Several were identified with Capone.

Bullet Riddled 'Bodies' Of 2 Men Discovered In N. Y.

HERKIMER, N. Y., Sept. 26.—(UP)—The bullet riddled bodies of two men, identified as Rocco Malkoon, about 25, and his father, Louis, about 47, both of Utica, were found today alongside a lonely road between Frankfort and Utica.

Herkimer county authorities and state police believed the two were victims of racketeers, basing their theory on the fact that the valuables of both were untouched. $240 in cash was found on the younger man's body.

The only mystery about some detective stories is why the author is never shot.

Ebell Flower Show Beauty Lauded

PRIZE WINNERS ARE ANNOUNCED BY COMMITTEE

Beautiful beyond belief, the collection of flowers gracing Santa Ana Ebell clubhouse last night and today for the annual fall flower show of the Garden section and Ebell society as a whole, has been declared by those who have attended each of the dozen similar displays which the society has to its credit, to be one of the most striking and comprehensive collections of blossoms ever assembled in one spot in Orange county.

While members and friends of the society, as well as nurserymen of Orange county and Santa Ana merchants, all have shown the liveliest interest in the annual event, and crowds have flocked to the display ever since the doors were opened yesterday afternoon at 4 o'clock, chief interest among amateur gardeners has centered in the handsome silver cup which each year is awarded the amateur gardener producing the most perfect dahlia. It was the unanimous opinion of the judges, Charles of Torrence, Joseph Vavra, of Huntington Beach, and George Seams, of Gardena, that the cup should go to E. J. Smale, who devotes his spare time to the flowers growing on his ranch near Orange. The winning dahlia was a perfect bloom in a delicate rose pink, and from its proud position in the handsome silver cup won by perfect points, was the center of attraction last night. It will be interesting to readers to know that Smale had never given any attention to dahlias until last year, so is a newcomer in the dahlia-growing field.

In the dahlia division, first and second ribbons were awarded Mrs. R. S. Thompson and Mrs. R. E. Millman for beautiful blossoms only slightly less perfect than the prize winner.

An effective setting has been given the flowers, especially in the peacock room, where a trellis decoration was made possible through the co-operation of Arthur Blandling of Blandling's nursery. Wreathed in vines and centered with a small fountain in whose pool were floating water lilies, the trellis provided romantic walks and all the joys of a private garden. Evendraped tables provided a perfect surface for the display of the flowers themselves.

The entire clubhouse was given over to the display with no space diverted to booths as on previous occasions. However, an exception was made in the lounge, where Mrs. F. E. Coulter and her committee provided correctly arranged tables for different social functions. Merchants co-operating with the women were the William C. Lorrans, furniture; William C. Lorrans, china; Mr. and Mrs. Harold Yost, of the Halmay studio, served as judges, and awarded the coveted blue ribbon to the silver wedding table, which was an artistic study in handsome china, amethyst crystal, and silver, with a central basket emphasizing the amethyst and silver notes. Priceless linens used on the tables were loaned by Mrs. Coulter, Mrs. Samuel W. Nau and Mrs. Leonard G. Swales.

Taking second ribbon, was the "breakfast in bed" table with its delicate green china and spotless napery. The bridal table received honorable mention.

One room was given over to the Ebell section baskets, in which every section of the society took part. The Modern Poetry women achieved a "sonnet in flowers," so poetical and lovely was their basket which took first prize. It was deemed quite significant that Second Book Review section should take second and First Book Review should take third place, as showing how closely allied are flowers and the cultural world of poetry and literature.

Some of the effects in this department, were unusually lovely, as the members had arranged individual backgrounds for the baskets. Perhaps a lovely Spanish doll reclined beneath dahlias as flaming and provocative as her glances, or more restrained blooms nodded appreciatively at their reflection in a quaint colonial mirror.

In an adjoining room were the entries from county clubs, with Anaheim Ebell taking first place, Placentia Round Table, second, and Orange Women's club awarded memorable mention.

Awards in the amateur growers' division were of general interest, and listing them will perhaps best express the variety of flowers entered for the event. Dahlias were entered in groups of three, and the group of cactus dahlias offered by Mrs. R. S. Thompson, took first place, with Mrs. Floyd Russell of Fullerton, second. In hybrid varieties, A. Palmer took first, and Mrs. J. A. Randel, second. Honorable mention went to Orange Union High school students through Charles C. Trippett, and to F. H. Eley.

In the decorative division, Mrs. Henry Schmetgen took first and E. J. Smale second, with honorable mention to Orange High school again, and to Miss Martha Ritchey. Mrs. J. A. Randel scored in variegated dahlias, and E. J. Smale in the peony variety. Among the pompons, Miss Millman took first and Mrs. Floyd Russell, second. A. Palmer scored in the show dahlias, with second place awarded Orange High school.

In the three best blooms of single dahlias, Mrs. A. E. Zapf took the blue ribbon, while E. J. Smale, winner of the cup, took a ribbon for the best collection of decorative bloom. Mrs. R. S. Thompson had the most artistic basket grouping, with A. Palmer second, and Smale receiving honorable mention.

Among unregistered seedlings, F. H. Eley took first and Mrs. J. A. Randel second. Of 1929 seedlings, Mrs. J. C. Buford was first and Master Bill Kirk, second. E. J. Smale scored in the 1930 seedlings, and Orange High school second.

Mrs. R. S. Thompson was declared to have the best bloom exhibited, with Mrs. Floyd Russell taking both second place and honorable mention. Mrs. Thompson also scored with the most artistic basket of pompons, with Mrs. W. P. Kirven second and honorable mention to Mrs. Russell.

Among the zinnias, richly beautiful and glowing like forest fires, J. Henry Lippitt took the blue ribbon for the best collection, and Mrs. B. Z. McKinney, the red. Mrs. Richardson had the best arranged basket, and Mrs. F. H. Eley, the second.

Mrs. Good Adams offered the best collection of the more delicately toned asters, while first place in the flower baskets was awarded Mrs. J. E. Paul, and in the bowls of flowers, to Mrs. Ella Parker. Mrs. Glenn Warner received the blue ribbon for her gladioluses, with second place going to Mrs. C. E. Utt. Among African marigolds, Mrs. McKinney took first place and Mrs. R. S. Thompson, second. In the petunia division, Mrs. W. L. Salisbury scored with her single varieties with Mrs. John P. Baumgartner second, while E. J. Smale and Mrs. McKinney took first and second place with their double blooms.

In the unclassified flowers, Mrs. Ella Parker took first ribbon and Miss Cora Taylor, second. Mrs. C. E. Utt took a ribbon on a tuberous begonia, a rarely beautiful specimen with great coral blossoms. A cut spray of a berried shrub won a blue ribbon for Miss Martha Ritchey.

Mrs. W. Horace White and Mrs. L. G. Swales took ribbons for new flowers not exhibited at previous shows. Mrs. C. E. Utt entered water lilies which took a ribbon, while in floral table decorations, Mrs. Thompson and Mrs. Henry Lippitt took first and second places. The former also scored with maidenhair fern. Summer lilies offered by Mrs. P. R. Reynolds, took first place with Mrs. Martha Shatto scoring second. Mrs. R. S. Thompson was awarded the sweepstakes.

In the florists' division, first place was awarded Macres' Flower shop and nursery, Anaheim, with the Bouquet shop of this city, second. Honorable mention was accorded the Robertson nursery, Morris the Florist and the Foster nursery. Miss Doolittle scored among the professional gardeners, while Macres' nursery offered the best display of nursery stock and rare plants with second place going to the Rinehart Begonia gardens. Honorable mention went to the F. F. Foster nursery.

Last night's visitors at the flower show, had the additional pleasure of hearing two of the city's favorite artists, Madame Manuela V. Budrow, soloist, and Clarence A. Guastlin, pianist, in a brief musical program, which followed an hour of dancing presented by talented young pupils of Miss Claire Coultant. Mrs. A. G. Flagg was chairman of the committee arranging this feature which was presented in the main auditorium with Mrs. Robert G. Tutill, Ebell president, introducing the artists.

Because of the wide general interest manifested in the Ebell Flower show, and the demands on the part of the public that it be continued beyond the hour of 6 o'clock tonight, named originally as the closing hour, women of Ebell miner husband and his girl wife, were already studying about how they might take out his wages to provide a happy holiday. And then the accident occurred.

In Auto Accident

An over-turned automobile there on those narrow mountain roads, and when help came, and the unconscious girl was given medical attention, the doctors shook their heads. Her back was broken.

That would be bad enough, wouldn't it? But somehow, her youth and courage and determination, the need of the little home for its presiding genius, of the husband for his wife and play-fellow, and the baby girl for her mother, all conspired together to bring her slowly back to life.

But such is life! At the time it seemed dreadful, and so it would to most of us now—if we didn't know worse things. For she was confined to a wheel chair. Indeed since that December day in 1927, Mamie Henderson has never set her foot to the floor. But she soon became expert in the management of her wheel chair, and spun merrily all over her little home, doing the unending tasks that keep a wife and mother busy. She did every bit of her housework—washing, ironing, cooking, sweeping, caring for her child, all from her wheel chair. There was hideous suffering of course, but somehow she endured it, because her husband was working tirelessly to earn the money necessary to pay for the operation which she was assured, would cure her.

Her general health continued to improve, and as the savings fund grew, their hopes were brighter and brighter. Then it developed that there was to be another child, and that occasioned a delay in the plans. But as soon as possible, the operation was arranged for, so that the young mother could take up her increased duties in her home.

Legs Paralyzed

But something went wrong. Measures meant to be corrective, were just the opposite. And the girl who today lies motionless on her bed of suffering, is absolutely paralyzed from hips to slender white feet. The money which had been saved to frugally, is gone long ago. The young husband can no longer work, because it needs a man's strength to care for the invalid. Little six-year-old Helen and brown-eyed Junior, the baby brother, are dependent, like their father and mother, upon what their widowed grandmother can do for them.

Eager to aid her child with everything in her power, the grandmother, Mrs. Mary Lewis, brought the little family to her home in this city, where they might have the services of the physician in whom she has such complete reliance. But this physician shakes his head. The case is one for the most expert specialist in the country.

But he has the specialist in mind—one whose whole life is given over to the study of the spine, and whose operative surgery has worked miracles without number. The specialist, like all his great brotherhood, refuses to let his right hand know what his left hand does, and many are those from humble walks of life, who have him to thank for renewed health and strength. He has definitely promised to examine this young mother, and if he sees hope for her, to operate and see to her proper care and nursing during her convalescence—if she can be brought to his Minnesota city.

$500 Is Needed

But there is no money to take her so far. Moreover she would have to have the companionship and care of her husband. So there would be two round trip railroad fares. It has been estimated that $500 are needed to make this journey.

Are there 500 persons in Santa Ana who would sacrifice a box of candy, a carton of cigarettes, tickets to a show, a new box of favorite face powder, an evening on the miniature golf course, or the thousand and one things into which a dollar can so easily become transmuted, to have their share in restoring a girl mother to her family, and to the life and youth and strength that are her heritage?

We know there are hundreds who will be glad to give of their own store, whether it be large or scanty. We of The Register want to be on that list. J. P. Baumgartner had no sooner heard the story than he declared he was eager to help, and suggested that in addition to individuals, there would be the city's numerous service clubs who would see an opportunity to put their ideals into practice. Dr. D. A. Harwood, in addition to giving his medical services, offers to aid materially to the fund.

Who else will give?

Communicate with the city editor of The Register if you can help.

God knows your heart aches and that your way seems long and hard but, while He guides and strengthens you, He wants you to learn to appreciate the beautiful things within range of your vision to prepare you for the wonders on beyond.

SILLY SEASON IN U. S. FINDS BRITISH EQUAL

BY ROBERT C. DOWSON
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
LONDON, Sept. 25.—(UP)—The American "silly season" with its tree-sitting, endurance bicycle riding, stern first auto driving, peanut pushing and the like, has a serious rival in England's crazy stunting, and endurance tests.

British newspapers while daily ridiculing the activities of American competitors in farcical stunts, have completely overlooked the numerous pointless competitions indulged in daily in various parts of Britain.

The scene for many of these stunts is the famous 52-mile stretch of road from London to Brighton, the popular holiday resort on the south coast. Much is the money that has changed hands as the result of bets decided over this highway. The stunts usually take the form of walking to Brighton pushing a baby carriage with a man seated inside, trundling a wagon wheel, balancing a barrel on the head or pulling a hand-cart loaded with so many pounds of vegetables.

Channel swimming comes in for a good share of criticism from many quarters where it is claimed that the long, weary plod against winds, tides and currents leads the swimmer nowhere except, perhaps, to an earlier grave.

Theater first nights always supply a good opportunity for the endurance stunts. Many seats in London theaters are not bookable in advance and the stunts take a great delight in betting their KENDALLVILLE, Ind., (United Press)—Up on the first airplane flight in his life, Howard Evers, asked the pilot to circle over the Evers' homestead. The pilot did and Evers became excited. "Get me down quick, the pasture's burning," he said, motioning toward a fire below them. The fire burned 20 acres of grass which the father of Evers was saving for late pasture.

Six-day bicycle races are not popular here. An American tried the experiment a few years ago but he went bankrupt in the attempt. The recent final cricket test match, however, drew some 20,000 fans to sit through six days of scorching sunshine, cold, drizzling rain and disappointing scoring by the home country.

Campers Routed By Army of Frogs

FRANKLIN, Pa., Sept. 17.—(INS)—Frogs, thousands strong, singing in chorus at night and hopping all over everything by day, proved to be too much for the resistance of a colony of campers at French Creek here.

Literally thousands of frogs congregated nightly and filled the air with their hoarse croaks to keep campers awake until morning when the din abated.

Overrun with frogs and plagued with mosquito bites, campers gave way completely and left their camps to the pests.

Steward was assigned to investigate the robbery.

ST. LOUIS IN IF PIRATES LOSE TODAY'S GAME

The St. Louis Cardinals needed but one victory today to clinch the National league pennant. If the Cards win over the Pirates or if the Chicago Cubs lose to their foes, the National league pennant race will have been decided. The Cards won yesterday over the Pittsburgh Pirates, by 9 to 0, while the Cubs scored a last inning victory by 4 to 3 over the Cincinnati Reds.

In the American league, the Washington Senators, forced into second place, eked out a 3 to 2 victory over the Boston Red Sox. The Philadelphia Athletics, already assured of first place in the league, won over the New York Yankees by 13 to 3, in a game halted at the end of the sixth inning by rain.

The Chicago White Sox-Detroit Tigers game was cancelled because of wet grounds.

Yesterday's hero—Burleigh Grimes, St. Louis Cardinals pitcher, who landed his team in a "gomie" position by shutting out the Pirates, allowing but seven hits, while his teammates were fashioning nine runs out of a dozen safe blows.

CHARGE VIOLATION OF LABOR RULING

Alleged inability to collect accounts due him from different parties was the excuse offered by Fred Lemm, 142 Adams street, Midway City, for having failed to liquidate accounts arising from labor contracts, when arraigned this morning before Justice Kenneth E. Morrison on a charge of violating the state labor law.

The complaint against Lemm was filed by C. B. Edwards, 1769 Firestone boulevard, Los Angeles, who alleged that the defendant had failed to pay him $69.25, due for labor performed on buildings at Midway City and Dana Point. Justice Morrison continued the case until October 27 in order to give the defendant time to settle the account. The court also ordered the release of the defendant on his own recognizance.

AUTO HIGHWAY EXTENDS INTO POLAR REGION

WASHINGTON, Sept. 25.—Most any American who has an automobile, a bicycle or even a good pair of legs now, can venture far within the Arctic Circle.

A road located in Northern Finland and believed to be the northernmost thoroughfare in existence, starts about 300 kilometers within the circle and extends about 250 kilometers farther north to the Fjord of Petsamo in the Arctic ocean. Incidentally this harbor is free from ice the year round.

American automobile tourists are going to hear much about this road next month when delegates to the Sixth International Road Congress convene here. E. W. Skogstrom, director general of roads, Helsinki, Finland, will submit a detailed report on its construction and capability in handling traffic.

The Imperial Russian government started construction of the highway in 1916 as a military measure. It would establish communication with the Allies and balk the German blockade of the Baltic Sea. Then came the revolution in that country in March the following year and Finland resumed the construction work. Total cost of the road aggregates $1,500,000.

The road has been open for quite some time and already venture some motor tourists have traveled to its northern end. Automobile service stations and roadside hotels have sprung up but most of them are open only during the summer months.

Among the delegates who will open their sessions here October 6 and continue until October 11, are Wilhelm Richard Boeckl and Edmund Stinnes. Boeckl won the world championship for figure skating at the Madison Square rink, New York City, last year and will be here as one of the delegates from Austria. Stinnes is a son of the late Hugo Stinnes, Berlin, Germany, motor magnate and capitalist. He comes as a representative of the society for the promotion of automobile highways. Another representative of the society will be Joseph Brix, of Berlin-Charlottenburg, a government consulting engineer.

The highway education board has sent 300 invitations to the delegates of the congress to participate in a number of highway inspection tours. The tours are being arranged to afford the foreign delegates first hand information on the construction, maintenance and use of all types of modern roads in the United States.

NEW ENGLAND HOBO RETURNS TO HAUNTS

The hobo is with New England again. It required the old-time policeman to recall the fact that the wanderer was nothing new. The new policeman couldn't quite make it out when husky men asked for a lodging for the night in various station houses throughout the state of Connecticut. The thing was explained to the young fellows.

One of the first places in which the hobo made his appearance was the main line system of the New Haven road. The hobo multiplied there, until the railroad police force was busy hauling them off the road. One wanderer even chose the most perilous railroad seat possible—the top of a freight car within inches of the deadly high-tension wire that operates the New Haven from here to New York. A signal tower hand first spotted the wayfarer, sitting erect, his hair streaming the wind, and telephoned Bridgeport to have the power shut off. The rider lived to be beckoned off his seat and given a ride in the wagon to the police station.

Farmers in Connecticut, who had been lamenting the lack of farm hands and blaming prohibition, suddenly changed their dirge this summer. For the country roads were bearing a strange traffic of men looking for farm work. They found jobs. And then old times were recalled; the farm hand invariably walked out when he received his month's pay.

OFFICERS FOR PRESS CLUB IN JAYCEE NAMED

Reorganizing the Santa Ana Junior College Press club for the coming school year, a group of former members and freshmen interested in journalism and literature gathered last night in the journalism department of the college.

New officers were elected for the club with John "Sky" Dunlap as president; Paul Wright, vice president, and Miss Marjorie Adams, secretary-treasurer. Edgar M. Flowers, journalism instructor in the college, is faculty advisor.

The next meeting of the club will be held after the college assembly Tuesday morning, when further plans will be made for the bridge party and dance to be held on October 7 at the home of Miss Virginia Bishop. A full schedule of meetings has been mapped out and leading newspapermen and writers of Southern California will be secured as speakers. The club also is planning to publish a complete catalog of the students and instructors, giving the names, addresses, telephone numbers and other useful information.

"MURDER" NETS $329.10
DECATUR, Ill., (United Press)—Fifteen men were arrested on charges of gambling here recently after police had raided an apartment following a report that a man had been murdered. The murder report proved a hoax but the raid resulted in replenishing the city treasury to the extent of $329.10 which represented the fines paid by the 15.

MOORHEAD, Minn., (United Press)—The annual "harvesting" of harvest hands has begun according to several who arrived here penniless after being robbed by transients. Advice from Wahpeton, N. D., said more than a score of harvest hands had lost their savings for the winter to hobos on freight trains and were searching for new jobs to recoup.

FIND KNIFE USED IN BLOODY BATTLE

A hunting knife, lost in a battle 560 years ago has been discovered in a war grave here by a Swedish archaeologist, Bengt Thordeman, who has charge of the excavations on a medieval battlefield outside the city's walls. The blade was of iron and the handle of deer horn, ornamented with silver. Previously the excavators have found many skeletons, some of them encased in dusty armor.

The battle took place on July 22, 1361, and on account of the warm weather the slain were hurriedly interred in mass graves, which now give the scientists authentic information about the weapons and armor worn by the soldiers of those days. Most of the victims appear to have been natives of the island, who fell before the swords and clubs of the invading Danes.

An old legend says that the slaughter was so great that blood ran through the city and colored the sea water, and the mutilated state of the skeletons bears witness to the great fury of the encounter.

FIND OLD POSTER
ST. PAUL, Minnesota, (United Press)—Poster men carrying large placards advertising the 1930 Minnesota state fair after a trip into Wisconsin brought back a colored poster they had taken from the side of a blacksmith shop advertising a Minnesota fair 45 years ago. The poster was found in Sharon, Wis. The main building pictured is the present agricultural building. The fair in 1885 offered $25,000 in prizes as compared with $133,464.25 this year.

CLERK RETIRES AFTER BURNING U. S. CURRENCY

GETTYSBURG, Pa., Sept. 26. — (INS)—Destroying 13 billions of dollars in United States currency is a lifetime job for anybody—at least so thinks Edmund E. Schreiner, a native of this city, who retired recently after completing that very task.

Schreiner was born here back in 1837—some 93 years ago—and for the last 63 years has been employed in the service of the United States treasury department, rising from the ranks of a clerk to superintendent of the redemption division from which position he has just resigned.

As superintendent of the redemption Schreiner managed the destruction of more than $12,000,000 in old bills and bank notes. Today special machines are used to destroy old money but when Schreiner started working for the treasury department the money was burned in a building on the Washington monument grounds.

Before entering the government service, Schreiner was an usher in the famous Ford's theater in Washington, D. C. He did not see President Lincoln assassinated, however. As his usher's duties were completed early in the evening he usually left immediately—as proved to be the case on that historic night.

Brothers Break Golf Record On Identical Day

DENVER, Sept. 26. — (UP) — There is nothing particularly unusual about a golf course record being broken. But—

When two brothers break the same record on the same day and turn in exactly the same scores it is unusual.

This was the trick performed by John and George Griffin on the Valley Forge course here.

With a par 71 to shoot at the two brothers, playing together, totaled their cards at the end of the 18th and found they both equalled 67.

OLD FAMILY CUSTOM

PASTOR CLAIMS CHURCHES ARE TOO NUMEROUS

NORRISTOWN, Pa. — (INS) — United States should recognize the Soviet government of Russia and it might be a good thing for this country if many of its churches were closed as in Russia.

These two unexpected statements were made by the Rev. John Ray Ewers, pastor of the East End Christian church here, after returning from a trip to Russia recently. Dr. Ewers made the tour in company with a group of United States senators and business men.

"Yes, many of the churches in Russia are closed," Dr. Ewers continued. "Some are being used as granaries, some as restaurants and some as stores. The people of each community vote as to whether they wish to have the churches remain open."

"I wonder if there are not too many churches in Pittsburgh and other cities of the United States and whether the city would not be better off if a good many of them either consolidated or closed altogether."

"Moscow used to have 1,600 churches—altogether too many. I attended six on a Saturday evening; some were well attended, others not."

"Business men of the United States should try to understand the Russian experiment. We should recognize the Soviet government and get a share of the trade. It would not be necessary to endorse their economic policies in order to recognize their government."

Dr. Ewers declared that Moscow was a fascinating old city. "The Soviet revolution to the Russians is regarded with warlike psychology. They are willing to wear bark shoes and live on carrots to put their five-year program over."

"This is the day of the worker in Russia. He has the best homes; the best seats in the theater and the best food. In the Opera house at Leningrad I saw men without shirts on, eating apples and sitting in the best seats."

"It is an interesting experiment and one worth watching intently."

Launch Campaign To End Dunce Cap

WASHINGTON, (INS)—The federal office of education has acted to rid the schoolroom of the figurative "dunce cap." Some schools in remote rural sections are said to still use the pasteboard cone-shaped hats to impress upon the wearers they are careless with their lessons or are "dumb."

Elsie H. Martens of California, has charge of the office's special department that will prepare a special training course for children who are mentally deficient or backward.

This course will be offered to the local school authorities.

Exports of cotton from Peru are increasing.

RANCHERS NOW SHOE BULLS ON NEVADA RANGE

RENO, Nev., Sept. 26. — No Gwendolyn, they don't wrestle the bull in Nevada. They shoe him!

Reports made by the agricultural extension division of the University of Nevada here revealed today that the blacksmithing industry, which followed square bottles into oblivion—almost—has received a new stimulus in Nevada through practice by many range livestock men in putting shoes on their bulls.

The bulls, it seemed, had developed severe cases of athlete's ankles, and to shoe the bull preserved his value in many instances.

Twenty bulls recently were shod in White Pine county and the experiment proved so successful it was to be emulated in practically every county of the state where there are a lot of bulls.

Over in Paradise Valley, Humboldt county, Fred Stewart put shoes on half a dozen bulls he shipped in from California. The Georgetown ranch, long an advocate of bigger and better shoes for bulls, re-shod its range bulls this year for the fifth time. The bulls like it.

A special bull shoe of two pieces is used on account of the cloven hoof so peculiar to bulls, and it is put on by use of an especially constructed frame to hold the bulls, who frequently protest with gestures and bullish bellows.

Advantage of shoeing the range bulls, ranchers advise that University of Nevada, is that it saves excessive loss of range bulls each year. This loss was caused by bull sores fast. A better calf crop better condition of the bulls as they come off the range, and consequent better prices when the bulls are sold in the fall, result from the practice.

A bully idea, what?

AMERICANS NOW EATING MORE FOOD

CHICAGO, Sept. 26. — (INS) — The average American of 1930 will consume 150 pounds more food this year than his predecessor of 1900, according to a bulletin issued here by the American Research Foundation.

"More sugar, fruits, fats and oils, and milk products are being eaten by the people of the United States," says the bulletin. "whereas fewer cereals, including corn meal, buckwheat rye flour, and wheat flour, are being consumed than formerly."

"The per capita consumption of sugar is estimated at about 105 pounds this year, compared with 61 pounds per capita in 1900. Fats and oils, including margarine, salad dressings, and other fatty foods will average about 44 pounds per capita this year, compared with 34 pounds a generation ago. Milk products consumption has increased from 849 pounds to 10,440 and fresh fruits from 163 to 132 pounds per capita. Meat consumption has shown little variation, ranging from 142 to 145 pounds a year per person. Figuring the increases with the declines, the average per capita food consumption shows a gain of 150 pounds annually in the last 30 years."

An increasing preference for energy and heat producing foods is evident in the modern American dietary. Sugar largely supplies energy, while fats are necessary in generating heat and power for the body. The popular idea is that we get most of our fat from fatty foods like margarine, which is a combination of milk and salt with whole-some animal or vegetable fats or both, yet there is fat in a wide variety of other foods we eat. Meat, milk and cream, and dozens of other items on the daily menu have a high fat content. The exceptional value of fats is that in addition to supplying energy, they aid digestion by enhancing the palatability of foods consumed in the average meal."

HOORAH FOR HIM

PARIS, Sept. 26.—Quite a few people will extend a vote of thanks, or even present him with a medal, if Commander O. L. Parson's invention works out. He has a system for preventing seasickness, and has applied for patent rights. It consists of suspended bunks, chairs, and tables swinging from the ceiling by means of straps and springs, and even suspended rooms. He says this suspension will prevent seasickness.

Exports of industrial machinery from the United States in the first seven months of this year were greater than in the same period of 1929.

RESINOL "HEALED EVERY PIMPLE"

"For some years I have had a rough and pimply skin. I tried many kinds of skin lotions and creams, but none of them seemed to do any good. One day I saw your advertisement for Resinol Ointment and sent for a sample. The results were so good, I bought a full size jar. It cleared away the redness and roughness, and healed every pimple. Now I always keep a jar on hand, and am glad to pass along a good word for Resinol."

LACK OF WORK SEEN AS SPUR TO EDUCATION

NEW YORK, Sept. 26.—Unemployment will give a tremendous impetus to education—especially adult education and re-education—it was forecast today by G. F. Marchand, president of the National University society.

"Beginning with the very opening of the fall terms in schools of every kind," Marchand says, "we may expect to see greater numbers than ever applying for instruction in technical and commercial subjects. Night, continuation and commercial schools should lead."

"The reason for this is that the unemployed fall into three great classes: The young high school and college graduates, who find themselves unequipped by an ordinary academic education to find suitable work; those who have been employed but are not now because they lacked modern business and technical education; and that older group who have been employed for years, but whose ideas and methods have become obsolete and who are now seeking re-education in modern business and ideas. They realize education must be continuous throughout life."

Marchand announced that the National University society, which, by means of motion pictures, stage plays and charts, provides an intensive review of modern business ideas and methods, and emphasizes personal success, will meet this new demand for education by extending its work to 12 "coaching capitals" at strategic points throughout the country. They are: New York, Boston, Chicago, Philadelphia, Detroit, Los Angeles, Cleveland, St. Louis, Minneapolis-St. Paul, Seattle, San Francisco and Washington.

Marchand is a lawyer by profession. Twelve years ago, however, he attracted attention by spectacular success he had made in manufacturing. At the age of 36 his fortune exceeded $1,000,000. He then retired from business to found the National University society, through which to teach the methods he himself has found successful in business.

TALENTED PARROT ESCAPES POLICE

DENVER, Sept. 25.—(INS)—A parrot that can talk in broken English is a mediocrity, but one that is a talented linguist is a marvel. It is for this reason that Mrs. Theresa M. Brugger is accusing the Denver fire department of allowing a marvel to slip through its fingers. The firemen were called to capture the bird when it escaped recently but gave up the chase after being an object of abuse from the parrot that stormed out its criticism from tree tops in English, French and Italian. According to latest reports, "Casanova," the talented hero of the story, is still wasting his wisdom on the world at large.

INSANITY GAIN BLAMED ON WAR AND MACHINES

PARIS, Sept. 26.—(UP)—The life and bitter memories of the World war are driving so many French people into insane asylums that the French government has suddenly found itself with more crazy people on its hands than it can accommodate.

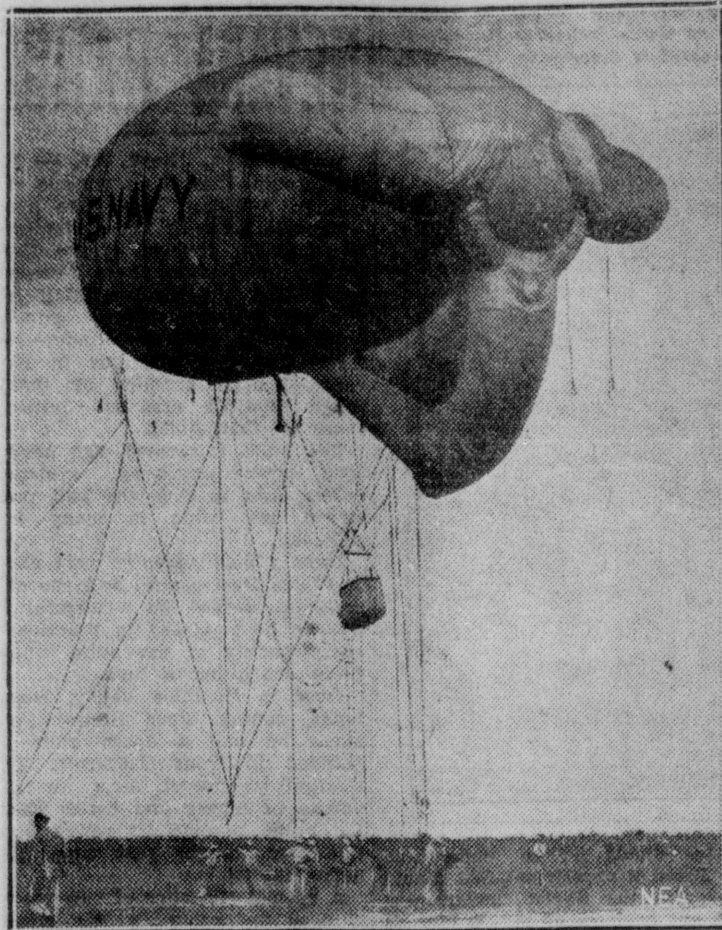

Steadily since the war there has been a continual increase in the number of persons admitted to mental hospitals. There are 87 insane asylums in France and they are taxed to capacity. The government is considering the rapid construction of emergency hospitals to take care of this year's increase.

The total number of demented patients for the region of Paris is now around 23,000, while public health officials note an alarming increase in the number of new patients this year. The six leading hospitals in and around Paris are crowded to the doors and to take care of new and pressing cases some of the old patients are moved to provincial institutions for confinement.

The assistants of M. Desire Ferry, minister of public health, have been studying the reasons for the alarming increase in the number of demented patients every year. Their studies lead them to believe the greater majority of mental derangement is caused from too fast

HUNTING RAIN?

No, this isn't a sausage with the cramps—it's a navy kite balloon taking weather observations at the U. S. Naval Air Station at Lakehurst, N. J. Apparently, the experts are hoping to find a rain cloud somewhere in the sky.

matic tubes are now being installed between Tempelhof Field, Berlin, and the General Telegraph office and are said there to afford the swiftest and most economical means of mail transportation. Leading aviators have expressed the opinion that the air mail is the backbone of commercial aviation in this country and that it cannot reach its highest development until some way is found to overcome the handicap of speeding up the air mail between the post office and the airport. Curtiss was one of those who expressed this view, and he added that the logical way to do it seemed by the pneumatic mail tube.

A breakdown of transportation costs shows the pneumatic mail tube to be the most economical method of transmitting mail. Based on the cost to the New York post office the cost of transporting a pneumatic carrier containing 600 letters for a distance of one mile is $.00371. At a weight of ten lbs. for the contents of a carrier the cost is $74 per ton for mail delivered or shot inside the post office to the interior of a post office substation.

and hectic a life, or from worries and fears growing out of the war.

Several doctors believe that modern Paris traffic is partially responsible for the mental condition of some of the asylum inmates. Harassed throughout life by widely dashing taxis, the day eventually arrives, declare these doctors, that something snaps in their brains.

Every day in France 10 persons are killed in automobile accidents, a figure which has led Premier Andre Tardieu to issue strict orders that driving permits must be taken away from persons unfit to conduct an automobile. Statistics show that only 1626 persons were killed by automobiles throughout France in 1924, while last year the total was 3717.

PLAN TO RESAIL FAMOUS FRIGATE

PUT-IN-BAY, O., Sept. 26.—(INS)—The frigate "Niagara," which was one of the fleet commanded by Commodore Perry, when he won his brilliant victory over the British in 1812 on Lake Erie, may again sail to the scene of the triumph.

Members of the Perry Victory commission, holding their 20th annual session here recently, decided to begin a campaign for raising a fund of $75,000 to reconstruct the old ship and bring it back to Put-In-Bay in honor of Commodore Perry.

Since 1913, when the warship was raised from the bottom of the lake where it sank during the memorable battle, the craft has been on exhibition at Erie, Pa.

The state legislature and patriotic organizations will be solicited by members of the Perry commission in the attempt to raise the $75,000 fund. The commission already has erected a $1,000,000 monument here to Perry.

AIRPORT MAIL TUBE SERVICE AIM OF BILLS

NEW YORK CITY, Sept. 25.—(INS)—Four bills were introduced into the last session of congress providing for the installation of pneumatic tube mail service between post offices and airports in New York, Boston and St. Paul.

Congressman D. J. O'Connell, of Brooklyn, introduced a bill providing for tube service between Floyd Bennett field and the Brooklyn post office at Borough Hall. Congressman Emanuel Celler, also of Brooklyn, sponsored a bill for tube service between the general post office in New York City and the Holmes airport at Jackson Heights, Long Island. Congressman Haas of St. Paul, introduced a measure providing for a similar service between the St. Paul airport and the St. Paul post office, a distance of two miles, and from the St. Paul post office to the Minneapolis post office, a distance of ten miles. A similar measure was sponsored by Congressman John J. Douglass of Boston, to link up the Boston Municipal airport with the general post office there.

Shooting mail from airports to post offices through tubes by compressed air has long been advocated in connection with the development of terminal deliveries of air mail. Probably the first official advocacy of the step by postal officials was made September 17, 1927 by former first assistant postmaster General J. H. Bartlett at Niagara Falls. Since that time many have come out in favor of the idea, among them the late Glenn Curtiss, one of the greatest and most beloved of all aviators. Pneu-

OVER INDULGENCE
The present mode of fast living, fast eating, and "bad drinking" is partially re-sponsible for the alarming prevalence of stomach trou-ble. Something you eat to-day may not agree with you—something you drink to-night may upset your stom-ach badly and cause you to wake up in the morning feel-ing way below par. Be fair to your stomach. For all such indiscretions, habitual or occasional, as well as for re-lief of gastric hyperacidity, sour stomach, gas distur-bances, bloating, belching, heartburn, bad breath (halitosis), loss of appetite—take Pfunder's Tablets—for sale by McCoy's Drug Stores, ex-clusive agents in Santa Ana.

Other officers are Charles H. Owens, chief, and Richard Nelson, secretary.

Lester Schofield was accepted as a new member and Fred Winters will replace J. R. Butler, who was granted a six months leave of absence as he is moving to La Habra. Other members are Ivan Ellmore, Percy Owens, William E. Tice, J. H. McGee, Preston Owens, Caryl E. Snyder and Claude R. Allen.

A venison dinner was enjoyed by the firemen preceding the meeting. Ivan Ellmore, who returned from a hunting trip this week, provided the venison.

H. B. OIL CREW FAILS TO FILL IMMENSE HOLE

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Sept. 26.—Some of the mysteries of oil well drilling have never ceased to baffle the drilling crews, although the industry is 75 years old. One of the peculiar features of rotary drilling is the loss of circulation. The rotary mud circulates in and out of the hole as the drill cuts deeper into the formation. This circulation keeps the steel bits cool and without it drilling cannot be continued.

This week the drill crews on the Woodward well at Sixteenth and Ocean found they had lost circulation. In ordinary language means that the earth formation penetrated by the bit is porous, is a huge cavern, or a loss formation which permits the free flow of the mud and water away from the drill hole. Often a few sacks of cement, some thicker mud or a sack or two of sawdust will fill the cavern or formation and circulation will be returned and drilling can proceed.

But this job at the Woodward well was different. The crews poured in truck load after truck load of sawdust, dumped many sacks of cement into the cavity, and tried every known way of checking the flow of their rotary mud into the earth. They are still pouring sawdust, cement and thick rotary mud into the hole, and eventually will get it checked and regain their circulation, but the plunging into this porous formation or open cave was an expensive piece of hard luck for the well operators. The condition was encountered at a depth of around 4000 feet.

SERVICES FOR ALBERT A. RUSS HELD SATURDAY

ANAHEIM, Sept. 26.—Funeral services for Albert A. Russ, 52, who died early yesterday morning at his ranch home on West Orange, where he had lived for the past nine years, will be held Saturday.

The deceased was a Spanish war veteran, a native of San Francisco. His widow, Kathryn M. Russ, is a member of one of Anaheim's pioneer families, being a daughter of the late Joseph Backs. Others surviving are his mother, Mrs. Louise R. Russ, of Los Angeles; a sister, Mrs. Bell R. Moore, of Los Angeles, and two nieces, Dorothy Veysey and Barbara Moore, both of Los Angeles. Funeral services will be held at the Backs, Terry and Campbell funeral chapel at 1 o'clock. An additional service will be held at the Wee Kirk O' the Heather, Glendale, at 3 o'clock Saturday afternoon. Interment will be made in the family plot at Forest Lawn, Glendale.

SCHOOL OFFICIALS IN NEW QUARTERS

ANAHEIM, Sept. 26.—With the administration building ready for occupancy, the officers of Superintendent Melbourne A. Gauer, school nurse, Mrs. Price; athletic director, Samuel Loose, and physical director, Adah Wilcox, were moved yesterday from the Fremont school building into the new quarters. Principal Wilbert Bonney of the Fremont school now has an office entirely separate from any other official and the second room vacated is to be used by the teachers.

The Intermediate school's official paper made its first appearance for the year today. As in previous years it is called the "Trail Blazer," but will be printed weekly instead of bi-weekly, and is published by the students each Thursday.

By way of variety the faculty members of Fremont held their regular meeting with a 7:15 o'clock breakfast yesterday morning. Miss Fletcher and Miss Hemmiller, of the domestic science department, prepared the meal.

Placentia Man's Venice Well Flows 2000 Barrels Oil

PLACENTIA, Sept. 26.—Thomas Strain, pioneer orange rancher of this county, is well on his way to becoming an oil magnate, for he has received word that his Strain No. 2 well at Venice has been brought in with an initial production of 2000 barrels.

The well is in shallow sand and is 3000 feet deep. The driller in charge of operations is Prince David Divani, husband of Mae Murray, motion picture actress.

Ernest Pierotti, grandson of the owner, is drilling other wells on the property, which lies between Thirtieth and Fiftieth streets. The No. 1 well is now down 3800 feet and No. 3 is down 750 feet. No. 4 well, drilled by a third company, is down 3700 feet. It is expected that about 17 other wells will be drilled on the property.

LAGUNA BEACH

LAGUNA BEACH, Sept. 26.—Otto Keefe is again in this city after attending the celebration in connection with the opening of the work on Boulder dam. He says many Arizonans were present and much interested. He sees a great future for Las Vegas, to which place he expects to return shortly.

Mr. and Mrs. Warren F. McKinley, of Englewood, N. J., have arrived in this city, expecting to make it their home. They came by way of the Panama canal and were met at San Pedro by Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Allen Box and Mrs. Lucy Lantz, relatives. They have taken a place on Cress street.

Mrs. Miriam H. Smith and daughter, Phyllis, who have just returned from Mansfield, Ohio, where they spent the summer with relatives, were accompanied home by Miss Julietta Jensen, of Lansing, Mich., who will spend the winter with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. William Swift Daniell.

Week-end visitors to Laguna were Mr. and Mrs. E. R. McDonald of Whittier, who were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin M. Bragg. Sunday afternoon Mr. and Mrs. Fred May, of Santa Ana, called on Mr. and Mrs. Bragg.

A wonderful trip was enjoyed by Mr. and Mrs. J. K. Hutchings who have just returned from motoring through the Grand canyon. Mrs. Hutchings says that aside from the beauties of the canyon one of the things that impressed her most was the lack of billboard advertising through Arizona.

Mrs. V. Dean Hall entertained with a luncheon at her home on Victoria drive recently, for Mr. and Mrs. Harry Halfhill, of Los Angeles.

ALLEY STATUS BEFORE LAGUNA BEACH COUNCIL

LAGUNA BEACH, Sept. 26.—Street and sewer matters engrossed the city council at its Wednesday evening meeting, with most of the problems referred or postponed for further consideration or information.

Gladys and Bessie DeWitt asked regarding the status of an alley in block 74, which they claim has been rendered of no practical use by reason of the cut made for Coast boulevard and subsequent other excavation work. The letter states that there is doubt as to the alley having been dedicated, and they ask abandonment of this alley.

The matter was referred to City Engineer Frank P. Gowan for report back to the council. A communication from Joseph R. Jahraus raised a question as to 52 per cent frontage on Ocean avenue having been signed for the improvement of that thoroughfare as was reported by the city engineer and states instances which seemed to him to indicate that there is less than the reported frontage. This was referred to Mr. Gowan for a check.

A communication from Rufan and Mize, Santa Ana attorneys, representing E. Walter Pyne, stated omission of a certain triangular lot from the Broadway improvement district, though included for a large amount on Third street. Widening had greatly reduced the size of the lot and thereby its value. It was stated, until it is worth less than the amount assessed against it. A certain claim allowed was asserted to have been wrongly distributed. The letter indicated a procedure which would be satisfactory to their client. The letter was referred to City Attorney Leslie F. Kimmel.

The firm of Wallace and Tierman proposed to install a chlorination plant for the city, the price to be $1400, time allowed to make certain that it will be satisfactory. Councilman R. L. McCrea, who is also health commissioner, favored accepting the proposition, but Mayor J. E. Bishop, former mayor of the sanitary district, thought time for investigation should be allowed. His belief was supported by other members of the council and prevailed.

LONG BEACH MAN TO DIRECT OPERA

LAGUNA BEACH, Sept. 26.—Charles Gilmore, long on the professional stage, but now a resident and business man of Laguna Beach, has been invited to take the direction of the comic opera, "The Marriage of Figaro," for which Anna Priscilla Risher has been rehearsing the music.

"I was very much interested when I heard of Mr. Gilmore's long stage experience," said Miss Risher. "So I speedily invited him to take over the stage direction of the opera which we have been working on for some time. It is impossible for one person to direct both music and action. Mr. Gilmore was most gracious in accepting the invitation."

Mr. Gilmore has appeared but once in Laguna Beach—with "King Rene's Daughter," an Art theater production. His work received most favorable comment from critics and laymen.

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Sept. 26.—The board of education of the Huntington Beach union high school has accepted the plans of Allison and Allison, architects of Los Angeles, for a plunge to be constructed on the high school grounds at an estimated cost of around $30,000. Secretary E. R. Bradbury of the board was authorized to advertise for bids for the construction of the plunge. Bids will be opened at a board meeting in the high school building in Huntington Beach October 13, at 7:30 p. m.

The plunge pool will be 40 by 140 feet in dimension. Bleachers will be constructed along the west side to seat 400 people. The plunge will be modern in every detail.

The style of architecture will be in conformity to the other school buildings, all of which were designed by Allison and Allison.

GLIDER MADE BY COLLEGE CLASS GOES TO FAIR

FULLERTON, Sept. 26.—Announcement that a glider built by the aeronautics class of the Fullerton Junior college will be on display at the County fair next week was made today by R. A. Marsden, instructor, who supervised construction of the ship, which is one of the few projects of its kind ever attempted by a junior college class and which has been flown on various test flights, proving highly successful. The type of glider built by the students under the supervision of Marsden is of the primary training type, built from the plans of the National Glider association and has been named "Hornet No. 1" in honor of the Fullerton school. It has a wing spread of 33 feet and will rise to a height of approximately 50 feet.

The glider was checked in detail by representatives of the national department of commerce after which a license to operate the ship was granted. Students passing a physical examination are granted permits to operate the ship, Marsden said.

It is reported that basketball will be among the sports featured this first year of the new high school.

Laguna Players Give 'East Lynne' During November

LAGUNA BEACH, Sept. 26.—Activity is once again starting in the dramatic circle and it will not be long now before the Community playhouse will be the scene of nightly rehearsals and hard work as the newest vehicle begins to take form.

The melodrama, "East Lynne," has been chosen for the next production and will be presented sometimes around the first of November. It should prove rather interesting due to the fact that it is to be done in modern costumes and settings. The cast is being carefully picked to insure the best performance possible and George Dunham is once again handling the directorial reins.

NEWPORT GIVES $1 BILLS FOR LIPTON'S CUP

NEWPORT-BALBOA, Sept. 26.—Mayor Jimmy Walker of New York City is due to receive a bulky air mail letter, dispatched to him yesterday by the Newport Harbor Chamber of Commerce.

The letter contains nine different $1 checks sent to the dapper mayor of the big town as custodian of the fund being raised at the suggestion of Will Rogers for Sir Thomas Lipton, who recently failed in his fifth attempt to lift the America's cup, emblematic of the world's yacht racing championship.

With the contributions went a letter of greeting from Mayor Mark Johnson of Newport Beach to Mayor Walker, with Johnson's own individual contribution to the fund.

Commodore J. A. Beek, Tom O. Jay, former harbor master and numerous other yachtsmen and boatmen here have sent their $1 mites. The chamber announced that it would forward by air mail any other contributions made through it.

WORK ON LIDO ISLE FINISHED BY OCTOBER 10

NEWPORT-BALBOA, Sept. 26.—Autoists may drive to Lido Isle over the new bridge and on paved roads over the whole island by October 10, and it is expected that thousands of visitors will take the opportunity to view the Newport bay development, costing $1,170,000.

The Griffith company, general contractors for the bridge and other improvements in the big scheme, will be away by November 1, after completing some of the minor parts of the program and putting on the finishing touches, but the main parts of the project will be completed in two weeks from now, it was stated today.

The chief items in the program now nearing completion are the approaches to the new bridge, the bridge itself having been finished some time ago. It is expected that the contractors will begin to lay pavement on the approaches a week from next Monday and that it can be used a couple of days later.

The water system will be ready as soon as the approaches to the bridge are in. The remaining main roads on the island will also be completed by October 10. The phones, sewers and gas connections are in. The light standards, the only part of the improvements showing above the ground, are also installed, but the lights will not be on until about December 1.

Dredging on the west side of the island, the channel separating it from the mainland, has been started, and as soon as the bridge can be used, the entire dredging job will be speeded to completion. At present the temporary road to the island prevents completion of the dredging, which will allow boats to pass under the bridge.

After October 10, the contractors will finish some walks, build five piers for the use of inside lot holders and smooth off some of the beach sections.

Included the chamber of commerce, Newport Beach Exchange club, Newport Harbor Yacht club, Balboa Yacht club, Balboa Angling club, Harbor District Realty board, Harbor District Builders' exchange and the Harbor post of the American Legion.

SAILORS FAIL TO FIND DRINK IN 'PARADISE'

PUEBLO, Sept. 26. — (UP) — Found: a place where prohibition is 100 per cent effective.

It is on the mid-Pacific island of Rotuma, a small member of the Fijian group, as the story is told by Chief Officer H. N. Wilson of the Matson steamship lines.

Though natives are only a few generations removed from cannibalism, Wilson said, Rotuma has a prohibition law that absolutely works.

"If there is any place in the world where a sailor can't find a drink," Wilson said, "it's on that island. The best we could rate was coconut milk. The tribal chiefs know what liquor is, but they decided it was 'bad medicine.'"

Strangely enough, he added, the legislation is masculine in origin. In fact, it is a man's island, with, straight of all the notion of pulchritude exemplified in its men instead of its women.

The women, he said, go comparatively unadorned, while the men are embellished with cosmetics. So vain are the native Brummels, he said, that one would give up his favorite coconut grove for a cake of scented soap.

"The island is a veritable Garden of Eden," Wilson said. "Tropical fruits grow in such abundance that the natives actually live without toil, except to pick their food off the trees and catch a few fish. Wild game, brightly-colored birds and acres of fragrant flowers complete the picture of Paradise."

REMOVES SHOES AND DRAWS FINE OF $5

CHICAGO, Sept. 26. — Jacob Rosenbaum's feet cost him exactly $2.50 each in the Evanston police court recently.

Rosenbaum, preparing to go for a swim, was undressing in his automobile. He had just removed his shoes and socks when Officer Edward Witt appeared on the scene.

"You are arrested for indecent exposure," said the officer. "You have publicly disrobed, contrary to the statutes."

The judge sentenced Witt's witty deduction and fined Rosenbaum $5, declaring the obvious intention made him guilty.

NEW BOOKS IN PUBLIC LIBRARY

B YVERNA RAMSEY

Edith Anne Stewart Robertson has told the story of Christ in poetic form in "He Is Become My Song." This is not a transcription, but an interpretation. Nothing at all equal to its scope has been attempted in the English tongue in our time. The writer knows her material from long and patient study of the sacred narrative in the light of modern research.

The fusing of the more traditional viewpoints of the life of Christ with the findings of modern study is handled with great skill. She has done this in a way which utilizes both in the building of a complete and beautiful story. Various methods were used to avoid monotony and to achieve interest and dramatic quality. The narrative is broken up into sections each representing some spiritual development in Christ's life. Different persons are chosen as the means of presenting the story to us. The narrative itself is interrupted from time to time with songs of unusual beauty. The mass effect is very moving, the general beauty of the work beyond question, and the section on the Passion especially admirable.

Most people are particular as to how Christ is presented to them. If the vital spark is missing, they turn away completely discouraged. The heights which are reached in poetry take us nearer this ideal than is possible in prose. Because of the exalted quality of this volume, it will have a real place in your reading of the life of Christ. In contrast with the many books which are trying to deal with his life in a scientific or dissecting manner, this one in its musical rhythms and in its beautiful expression of spiritual ideals, shines with a white light which brings us nearer to the great love and suffering of the man of Galilee. Perhaps the reading and meditation of such concepts will help to keep alive the spirit of idealism in this age of science.

Originally there were the Seven Seas. Of course there still are, although new names have been added to the old, and our geographical knowledge has become more complicated. In the period that began with the galleon and perhaps ended with the windjammer, to sail the Seven Seas was about as much as the universe offered. The phrase acquired a certain magic hinting of long and perilous wanderings around the world.

Much of this romance has passed as these waters have become well traveled steamship lanes used by millions for a few weeks each year. The enchantment of the Seven Seas is no longer fabulous. Yet the phrase remains on men's tongues as symbolic of the pioneering spirit of the race—this larger and richer sense that Harry F. Guggenheim has used the expression "The Seven Seas" as the title for his book.

This account begins with a history of aviation. It demonstrates how Lindbergh's never to be forgotten flight marked the end of the early pioneering period of aviation at the beginning of the industrial era in which the airplane is classed as a practical utility. He then proceeds by telling what is being done at present along every line of endeavor to advance the progress of aviation. In connection with this progress two major concerns are indicated: First, the constant improvement and perfection of the airplane and its facilities for navigation; and second, the public knowledge of its development.

These essays were written in the hope that they might contribute to the fulfillment of man's age-old dream of the conquest of the air. Aviation development may be not only an end in itself, but an important means to an end—an end which might be defined as mankind's mastery of the elements. The airplane gives to man a new freedom, eliminating the geographical barriers of river, sea, mountain, and desert between him and his kind. Thus it may help to eliminate those prejudices and misunderstandings which have jeopardized human relations in the past.

Readers who generally shun poetry as they do the plague, would do well to shun Arthur Guiterman's "Song and Laughter" unless they want their prejudices exploded. His skillful expression of charming nonsense and clever satire has in it something that will appeal to any man.

He himself laments: "Why can't I grow profounder, graver, wearier?"

My great career would grow so much careerier.

It must be awful nice to be superior."

This is a sentiment that is not echoed by his readers. We are so often bored by profundity. So many heavy works are merely heavy. In the variety of light sentiment, nonsense and funny story, we find relief from the cynicism and over sophistication that abounds around us. We often feel, too, that in some cleverly turned phrase, Arthur Guiterman has often voiced a truth that is missing in many volumes of more serious purport.

As verse these short poems have a place and virtue of their own. Many of them possess a singing rhythm that is missed in some poetry which is striving to be art. The verse forms which are used are varied and interesting. The writer has a genuine flair for the delicate ironic quatrain and for those long lines which act as the vehicle for rhymes of many syllables. Even in this age of free verse forms, many poets could envy Guiterman his apt use of rhyme and rhythm.

This volume like former ones from the same pen wins us with its kindly, shrewd humor and a natural gift of irony coupled with a light sure touch and a facility for making verse. The range of interest is wide as may be seen from the titles. We find such subjects as the following: "Color," "Traps," "Medicine Hat," "Those Awful Puritans," "Notoriety," and "Smith." The delightful expression of common sense and lack of pretentiousness which we find throughout the volume adds to the charm of the poems.

'WINDOWLESS' AGE PREDICTED BY SCIENTIST

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 26. — The windowless age when human beings will see the sun but a few minutes each day when they go and come from work was pictured by L. A. S. Wood, of Cleveland, Ohio, for the delegates to the convention of International Association of Municipal Electricians, which was held here recently.

"Scientific research has shown that the various nerves in the human eye function at different intensities of illumination," Wood said. "When the light is insufficient for the work to be done, only a few of the nerves are able to be used. They are used to such a degree that they become tired and eye strain results."

"When the illumination is exactly fitted to the work to be done, none of the optical nerves is 'over-used' and the eye does not become tired. As much as we have become used to sunlight, it is a fact that the intensity of illumination from the sun varies to such a degree, because of weather conditions and recent changes in its direction, that as a means of illumination for work it is decidedly inefficient."

Wood predicted that in the future each concern would hire experts who would determine just what intensity of light was needed for maximum efficiency, and would take steps to insure a constant candlepower. This would mean that factories of the future would be huge structures without windows so that nature might not interfere with "modern" efficiency methods.

BUSINESS HAS UPWARD SWING IN CALIFORNIA

SACRAMENTO, Cal., Sept. 26. — (INS)—Bumper crops, unprecedented tourist traffic and increased savings deposits were contributing to a steady upswing of California business today.

Reflecting this midsummer prosperity state agencies from agriculture to banks reported a brisk continuance of healthy activity in all lines. One significant feature of this business stability was a summary of the June 30 called reports of state banks issued recently by Will C. Wood, state superintendent of banks.

"The second quarter statements of banks give evidence of a revival of commercial business and a continuation of the upswing in bank savings deposits," Supt. Wood reported.

"Substantial increases were shown in deposits of many commercial banks and the volume of loans was maintained. Additions to bond holdings totaled $5,000,000 during the second quarter and $23,000,000 has been added to cash resources, placing the banks in a highly liquid condition. Meantime, bank borrowings have been reduced to the lowest level recorded since 1927. Savings banks have added $10,000,000 to their individual deposits and although loaning activity continues on the decline, bond holdings have taken up the slack."

Reports of building and loan associations show the greatest volume of funds invested in these institutions in history. Their total assets increased $35,000,000 during the first six months of the year.

Life insurance, representing another type of investment, also showed an increase in sales. Never in the history of the state has so large a volume of life insurance been outstanding.

Although real estate sales were unsatisfactory early this year, Stephen Barnson, realty commissioner, reported a steadily increasing movement in agricultural lands and metropolitan business properties.

JOKE ON THIEVES

FREEMAN, South Dak., (United Press) House-breaking thieves who noticed a 15-gallon barrel carefully stowed away in the basement of Andrew Tschetter's house waited until they saw the family go away and then made away with it. The joke was on the bandits because the barrel contained water placed in it to keep it tight until Tschetter was ready to make pickles in it.

In the last 16 years Norway's national wealth has increased 89 per cent.

EFFECTIVE ADVERTISING

HARRISBURG, Pa., Sept. 26.—(UP)—It looked like a gala day for the police department. Motorists began to stream into police headquarters and produce $2 and a little red ticket. The police looked bewildered and wondered what it was about. They found that a roadhouse owner had used a red tag, exactly the size of the city's overtime parking ticket, to advertise his establishment.

80 ATTRACTED TO SESSION OF CHURCH GROUP

ORANGE, Sept. 26.—About 80 members and guests of the Women's Home Missionary society of the First Methodist church were present yesterday at the annual dues paying luncheon at the Epworth hall of the church, when $162 was received in dues. Mrs. W. B. Nuckols, president of the group, was in charge of the meeting.

Luncheon was served by members of the Ladies' Aid society of the church with Mrs. Russell Kenyon as head of the committee serving. Small tables were attractively arranged and were centered with vases of blossoms in lavender tints. Bouquets of dahlias were placed about the hall.

The devotional service was conducted by the Rev. Walter B. Cole, pastor of the church, and at the luncheon hour vocal solos were sung by Mrs. Claire Hanson, of Santa Ana, who was accompanied by her mother, Mrs. L. M. Matney, also of Santa Ana. Mrs. Hanson sang "Abide With Me" and "How Lovely Are Thy Dwellings." Mr. Hanson accompanying her with a trombone obligato in the latter selection.

The speaker of the afternoon was Mrs. L. F. Sedgwick, of Long Beach, who was introduced by Mrs. Elmer Burns, of Santa Ana, corresponding secretary of the district.

Mrs. Sedgwick opened her talk by reading Henry Van Dyke's story of "Jericho Road," afterward using the theme of the story to illustrate missionary work of the present day.

"The Jericho Road is a version of the well known story of the Good Samaritan, the tale of whose good deeds are related in the New Testament. The story touches every phase of missionary work, the speaker said, as she urged her listeners to patrol the Jericho road."

The Home Missionary society of the Methodist church was organized in Indiana just half a century ago, Mrs. Sedgwick said, at a time when the Negroes, just released from slavery, needed help.

Home missionary work covers work with Orientals, Eskimos, Indians and untaught Americans, the speaker said. "Christianity is not a wonderful way of thinking but a wonderful way of living," Mrs. Sedgwick declared, as she urged that women elect to office men whose policy they believe to be right.

"For selfish purposes alone, it is good to train foreigners in our midst, as they may all make contributions to our civilization. I am proud of the accomplishments of the Jubilee year of missionary work," concluded the speaker.

Mrs. A. Haven Smith sang two delightful solos at the close of the talk, playing her own accompaniment. Her selections were "Still Is the Night" and "On Wings of Song."

It was announced that the study book of the year would be "Training the Conquistadors" and that Mrs. Faye Baker would review the book. Eleven perpetual members are now associated with the society, it was said.

Mrs. Charles Robinson told of the activities planned by the Queen Esther circle for the year, stating that at the first meeting of the society of which she is advisor, there were 27 girls present when on previous years there had been but 11 members.

A quota of $1095 was announced for the coming year for the society, and after discussion, a vote was taken and the quota was accepted.

Women of the society were invited to attend an all day rally to be held at the First Methodist church in Santa Ana Tuesday, the meeting to open at 10:30 o'clock.

Group leaders of the society were introduced as follows: Mrs. W. B. Cole, Mrs. Gilbert Scriven, Mrs. Leslie Scriven, C. E. Kilgore, Mrs. J. Wilson, Mrs. M. M. Claypool, Mr. Roy Cavett and Mrs. L. A. Bortz. Mrs. Leslie Scriven and Mrs. Edna Barnham were introduced as new members.

The treasurer's report was given by Mrs. Frank Pruitt, and Miss Ethel Terry, educational director, was introduced.

The next meeting of the society will be held in October at the parsonage.

Silver Wedding Anniversary Of Couple Observed

ORANGE, Sept. 26.—Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Ramm of West Broadway, Anaheim, were hosts on a recent evening to 65 relatives and friends in celebration of their silver wedding anniversary. The affair was held in the Walker Memorial hall in Orange, which was beautifully decorated for the occasion.

They were married September 20, 1905, in Davenport, Iowa, by the Rev. A. D. Grief in the Trinity Lutheran church of that city. It was there they made their home until seven years ago, when they moved to their orange ranch. Two sons are Herbert and Robert Ramm.

A humorous reading dedicated to the bridegroom of 25 years ago, was given by Mrs. Harry Miller and a brief word of felicitation was offered by the Rev. A. C. Bode of the Orange St. John's Lutheran church.

MORNING PLAY SHOWS BOBBY IN GREAT FORM

the fairway, and Bob's second tee shot lay alongside.

Jess got on in 2, over the extreme right of the green. Bob, playing 4, put his approach dead to the pin.

Sweetser rolled one up dead, and Bobby conceded him a win in 4, taking a 5 himself.

Hole No. 8, par 4, 350 yards. Jones 4, Sweetser 4, Jones 3 up.

Both Bob and Jess drove well at the 8th. Jones sent a high approach shot which fell dead 10 feet from the pin. Jess topped his run up and barely escaped the trap in front of the green. The New Yorker was 80 feet from the cup, but laid his approach putt dead. Bob lipped the cup. They halved it in four.

Hole No. 9, par 3, 170 yards. Jones 4, Sweetser 3, Jones 2 up at the turn.

Sweetser cut Jones' lead to two up at the turn. Jess' tee shot at this short hole was a beauty, stopping 10 feet from the pin.

Jones' tee shot found a trap on the right and he came out too strong. His ball rolled up dead and Bobby conceded him a 3, taking a 4. Jess was only 2 down.

Jones was out in 56, Sweetser in 42.

MERION CRICKET CLUB. ARDMORE, Pa., Sept. 26.—(UP)—Bobby Jones and Jess Sweetser met today in the semi-final round of the National Amateur Golf tournament.

Proof that Jones was out for business today was furnished by a look at his hands, which were taped, fingers and thumbs, to prevent splitting.

Jones won the first hole from Sweetser with a birdie three and was one up.

Sweetser sliced into a trap to the right of the fairway. Bob's drive was down the middle of the fairway.

Sweetser played out of the trap into another guarding the green. He again dug out of the sand and his ball overran the green and went into a bit of rough behind the crowd.

Bob approached to within 15 feet of the pin. Jess' approach stopped 20 feet short of the cup and he again putted short.

Jones then got a birdie three. Sweetser being conceded a six. Jones one up.

Hole No. 2, par 5, 523 yards. Jones 5, Sweetser 5; Jones 1 up.

Bob's drive at the second barely held the fairway on the left. Sweetser was down the middle.

Jess went into the rough at the left of the green, 75 yards short. Jones' approach was 30 yards short.

Sweetser approached within six feet of the pin, but Bob laid his foot inside his opponent's ball.

Jess ran slightly past the cup. Jones then laying him a partial stymie.

Sweetser negotiated the stymie and conceded Bob a half in fives. Jones Wins Third

Hole No. 3, par 3, 195 yards. Jones 3, Sweetser 4. Jones 2 up.

Jones put his tee shot 20 feet from the cup.

Sweetser's tee shot hung on the bank of the green.

Jess played out 25 feet past the pin.

Sweetser putted a foot past the cup and when Jones rolled his approach putt up dead, Sweetser conceded him a par 3 and took a 4.

Hole 4, par 5, 559 yards. Jones 4, Sweetser 6. Jones 3 up.

Jones outdrove Jess by 20 yards. Sweetser hooked his brains, barely cleared a trap and wound up in the rough. Jones played his second 30 yards short. Jess failed to clear the creek with his third, while Bob played a high pitch to within 15 feet of the pin.

Jess was on in four, but far from the hole.

Bob ran down his 15 footer for his birdie. Sweetser being conceded a 6.

Hole No. 5, par 4, 435 yards. Jones 4, Sweetser 6. Jones 4 up.

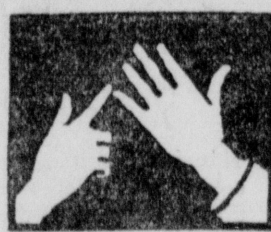

Jones drove straight at the fifth, but Sweetser's drive caught the creek at the left of the fairway and he had to drop out and take a penalty stroke. His second was 50 yards short and over to the left of the fairway. Jones pitched to the left of the green, hole high. Jess got on in four, but was far from the cup. Bobby putted for his three, but his approach putt stopped dead to the cup and Sweetser conceded him a four, taking an approximate six himself.

DID YOU KNOW THAT—

Will Wrigley, genial proprietor of the Cubs, learned about women from Ladies' day . . . Says Will:

"There is no such thing as controlling the crowds of women besieging the admission booths . . . If a big State street store were to offer at 50 cents 5000 pairs of the finest silk stockings made, the crush to get them would not, I think, exceed in intensity our Ladies' day gate crash. . . . One Friday shortly after the gates were opened, and there were 45,000 spectators inside and thousands outside, an usher came upon a little old woman who was crying. . . . He assured her he would find her a seat somewhere. . . . "I don't want a seat," she sobbed. "I came to visit my daughter who lives in this neighborhood."

PEIPING CORPS DOOMED BY NEW RULING OF WANG

By D. C. BESS

United Press Staff Correspondent
PEIPING, Sept. 26. — The fighting foreign minister of the government at Nanking, Dr. C. T. Wang, has made a simple announcement which probably will prove the death blow to the "Diplomatic Corps" in Peiping, an institution which has existed since the Boxer uprising, and to a lesser extent before that time.

Dr. Wang merely stated that hereafter he will not receive official declarations from the dean of the Diplomatic Corps, speaking on behalf of the entire group of diplomats in China. Each minister must hereafter speak for himself alone.

It is not believed likely here that the Diplomatic Corps will make any serious protest to this move. For all practical purposes, the corps has been non-existent for some years, and ministers of important powers have not hesitated to address the Chinese government directly for some time past.

The "Diplomatic Corps," as it existed in China, had counterparts only in more backward countries. Dr. Wang objects to the practice because it reflects discredit upon the government he represents. His announcement is daring only because it is made at a time when China is divided into several camps at war with each other, and when Communists control large areas south of the Yangtze, murdering and pillaging towns and villages without interference from the government.

Before the rise of the Chinese Nationalists, the Diplomatic Corps in old Peking was a powerful group. It was composed of all the diplomats in the capital, who met at stated intervals and decided upon joint action, after which the dean would address the Chinese government with the full support of all important nations behind his remarks. Foreign nations, however, are more responsible for gradual dissolution of the corps than the Nationalists. The tendency has been more and more to make representations directly to the Chinese government rather than group action.

Foreign countries naturally did not have precisely the same attitude toward China. Their interests are different and their policies somewhat different. Several years ago, they felt that in the common interest it was valuable to unite on all important matters, which was the origin of the Diplomatic Corps, and its excuse for existence.

After the World War, however, interests became even more divided. Germany and Russia were outside the corps for years, and the Soviet representative never acted with the other powers.

The first nations to act alone were accused of "treachery to the common interests," but this accusation was never taken very seriously except in China.

While the arrangement may have been useful at one time, it was always unwieldy. Some small nation, with practically no interests in China, could prevent unified action by the corps, giving Chinese officials the impression that the major powers were divided when nothing of the sort was true. The dean of the corps was often the minister of a small nation with little or no real interests in China. At present the dean is the Dutch minister, who holds the position entirely through his long residence in China.

Dr. Wang announced that hereafter the corps will be recognized only as "socially useful." His announcement is not so sensational as it might appear. For years the corps has been little more than a name, with no real force behind it.

KILL FREAK DEER

CRANDON, Wis., (United Press) —Forest rangers fighting fires in the Roberts lake district killed a freak deer with shovels after a short chase through the brush. The animal was a yearling buck with a short set of horns. It was totally blind and had large hairless warts, many several inches in circumference, about its head, body and legs. The animal was able to make its way through the woods with the agility of a normal deer.

Hair that sparkles!

No one can deny the importance of having the hair arranged in the style best suited to the individual type. Much of the effect is lost, however, unless the hair is kept soft, abundant, lustrous.

A million busy women and girls know the easiest way to keep the hair in perfect condition is with Danderine. The first application will show you how marvelously it removes excess oil from the hair; cleanses it; makes it sparkle with new life and lustre. It's so simple to use Danderine. All you do is put a little on your brush each time you arrange your hair! The consistent use of Danderine will dissolve the worst crust of dandruff; soothe, heal the scalp; stimulates the growth of long, silky, abundant hair.

Danderine isn't sticky or oily; doesn't show. It makes the hair easy to manage; holds it in place for hours. "Set" your waves with it and see how much longer they stay in.

Farm, Home Aid For County Veterans Totals $323,280

CREDIT GIVEN LOCAL MEN IN LAST 8 YEARS

From the funds voted by California citizens during the last eight years in bond issues totaling $20,000,000 for the use of its war veterans in purchasing homes and farms, $323,280 has been expended for this purpose. In Orange county, examination of records revealed today.

The California World War veterans have purchased 7213 homes at an average cost of $4742 and 290 farms at an average cost of $591 since the passage of the first bond issue in 1922, according to George Stout, secretary of the veterans' welfare board.

Expenditures from the fund in Orange county are accounted for as follows: 65 homes, $303,680; and three farms, $19,600.

Stout pointed out that while the board was contributing approximately $1,000,000 per month to California real estate markets up to February, 1929, the exhaustion of the last bond issue has caused this expenditure to suffer a drastic reduction less than $100,000 being spent last month.

"Applications from 17,888 eligible veterans are on file in the office of the board and passage of the $20,000,000 bond issue, which is No. 1 on the November ballot will mean that the board again will become an important real estate buyer," Stout declared.

"Veteran leaders have consistently pointed out that the bond issues do not cost the taxpayer one cent; that the voters are simply asked to act as guarantors of the credit of the veterans, who pay off not only the principal, but the interest on the bonds as well.

"That this promise is being kept is shown by records of the board, revealing a total of $1,471,000 worth of bonds retired to date from payments made by the veterans on their farms and homes, in addition to the $3,285,912.50 they have paid in interest on the bonds."

LODGE MEXICAN IN JAIL AFTER SHOOTING FRAY

One man was arrested on a charge of assault with a deadly weapon following a shooting affair at Atwood early this morning, another was taken into custody on a statutory charge, while a third one was booked on a simple drunk charge during the night, records at the county jail disclosed. Added to these arrests was the jailing of a Laguna Beach youth, held for investigation in connection with petty theft.

Juan Gastelum, 38, Mexican ranch worker, was brought to the county jail early this morning by Deputy Sheriff Floyd W. Howard and Constable H. Lucy, of Placentia, following an asserted shooting scrape in which Gilberto Romero, 32, another Mexican of Yorba, was shot in the head with a load of bird shot while the latter was running away from Gastelum. According to the report brought back by the arresting officers, Romero, who is related to Gastelum, went to the latter's house armed with a shotgun. A quarrel ensued in the course of which the elder Mexican took the weapon away from the younger man. Upon being disarmed, Romero ran out of the Gastelum dwelling, followed by Gastelum who, either intentionally or accidentally, fired at his fleeing relative. The shot peppered Romero's scalp but did not inflict serious injury, none of the pellets penetrating the skull. The wounded man was taken to the county hospital.

Nicolas Ketch, 53, of 441 West Fourth street, was taken into custody last night by Robert Sandon, investigator for the district attorney's office, and booked on a statutory charge.

D. S. McCloud, 65, who told the arresting officers that his home was in San Diego, was picked up and lodged in the county jail on a drunk charge.

A 16-year-old youth was arrested yesterday by Laguna Beach police for investigation in connection with petit theft.

BANKERS OF ORANGE COUNTY ENJOY IRVINE PARK PICNIC

The officers and employees of the Orange county banks were guests of the Orange county chapter of the American Institute of Banking at a picnic, held at Irvine park last night.

Approximately 120 enjoyed the box lunches and the dancing which constituted the program.

An announcement by J. L. Bascom, president of the Orange County chapter of the American Institute of Banking, was made relative to the three courses offered to bank officers and employees during the coming year.

"A course in standard economics, with Homer C. Chaney as instructor, and a course in analyzing financial statements, with Frank J. Was as instructor, and the third course in standard banking, with the instructor as yet unselected, will do much to round out the education of all interested in banking work," Bascom said.

ANNOUNCE TOPICS FOR BIBLE MEETS

"The Universal Roundup and the Brand of Hell" is the subject of a message for today at 7:30 p. m. which Rev. D. F. Myers, of San Diego, has announced to the crowds attending the Orange county Four Square Bible conference being held at the Santa Ana Four Square tabernacle, Fairview and Sycamore streets.

This Bible conference is to close Sunday night, and special subjects have been announced for Saturday night and Sunday morning. Sunday afternoon and Sunday night, Sunday at 2:30 p. m. a fellowship meeting of all the Orange county churches will be held, and all are invited to hear the message on "The Spirit World," at which time the Rev. Myers will tell from the Bible where the souls of the departed go.

Saturday night the Rev. Mr. Myers will have a question box and will answer all questions handed in before Saturday night. All are urged to attend the remaining five services. Special singing and musical numbers are provided at all the meetings.

MOORING COLLIE CARRIES OLD SHOE

VISBY, Sweden, Sept. 26.—(UP)

—A beautiful collie mourns the absence of his master out at Loretto Heights college and wanders disconsolately about his spacious grounds, carrying with him, wherever he goes an old, black shoe discarded by the vacationing owner.

But the dog will have his day. The Right Rev. Monsignor Richard Brady, chaplain at Loretto since 1896, will return from a visit to Cotthill County Cavan, Ireland, some time in October, and the collie's mooping mood probably again will spread wide in a happy doggy grin.

When the master, from whom the collie was inseparable, departed for Ireland, the dog was inconsolable. A box of old clothing for the poor was left outside the college one morning. The dog sniffed a few times, then plunged into it with alacrity. Articles of apparel were strewn about recklessly as he nosed down to the bottom of the box. When he emerged, in his mouth was a shoe, a comfortable old shoe the monsignor had reluctantly outworn.

Not even a bone can lure the collie from his keepsake. To this stalwart friend of man, memories transcend all else.

SCHOOL GOALS FOR STATE ARE REVEALED HERE

County School Superintendent R. P. Mitchell today called attention to the code just announced by State Superintendent Vierling Kersey, setting forth the essential purposes in public education in California schools. The code, which covers six points, ranging from character development to physical well-being, governs the department's attitude in administration of public school affairs. The code follows:

Developed Character—The first essential in the purposes of all California education is development of character, the basis of which shall be directed training in specific activities to meet life situations with right decisions and correct attitudes.

Attained Academic Minimums—Academic minimums are requisite for two purposes: As tools for daily living and productive livelihood, and as essential elements out of which culture is evolved.

The Urge to Accomplish—Mere activity unmotivated by conscious purpose may achieve little. It shall be a fundamental purpose in public school education to fire our youth with a purposeful and continuing zeal for learning, out of which will come an assured tolerance, positive growth and a mind trained in problem solving.

Social Adequacy—This is a prime requisite in order that preservation of the essentials of American democracy may be accomplished. A safe social order builds acceptance of the rule of the majority, respect for the square deal and an understanding of those ideals of liberty, equality and fraternity which constitute the basis of our republican form of government.

Vocational Equipment—This is a requirement of all public education, but applies particularly to our secondary schools. Educational and vocational guidance, providing assistance in vocational and professional choice and proper training to develop adequate occupational information and skill, is the right of every student.

Mastery of Physical Well-Being—This purpose is to be attained through constructive, satisfying, physical expression, play, recreation, entertainment and health guidance.

From the United States to the Marquesas Islands, 3000 miles in a 30-foot boat, is the feat of F. Garland Swain (below) of Whittier, Calif., and his navigator, Fred B. Hume. They went 43 days without sighting land, battled storms and lived for days on sugar and coconuts after the burning tropic sun had spoiled their other provisions. Swain is pictured here as he arrived back in Los Angeles; Hume remained in Hawaii, whence the pair sailed from the Marquesas. The map shows the location.

Allen, one of the field executives of the Orange county scout headquarters staff. There are 47 troops in the county whose membership reaches the 890 mark, he announced today.

In the district of which Orange county is a part, embracing California, Arizona, Nevada and Utah, known as region 12, there are 2505 troops and a membership of 54,000. Membership of the Boy Scouts is said to comprise the largest united movement of boys in the history of the world.

In the United States there was a total membership of 842,548 at the close of 1929, an increase of 22,757 over the previous year. At the close of August this year the membership in the United States has reached 850,392 according to figures from national headquarters. Of this number 7000 are Sea Scouts, 619,648 are troop and lone Scouts, and leaders number 330,748.

High School, College P-T. A. Plans For Interesting Year

Twenty members of the executive board of the High School and Junior College Parent Teacher Association met yesterday at Ketter's cafe for a luncheon at which plans for the future were outlined. Dr. George Warner presided and called for the plans of committee chairmen for the discussion and official approval of the group. Program, finance and membership committees, were ready with their reports.

Mac Robbins, chairman of the program committee, stated that after careful and prolonged consideration it was thought wise to present an entirely new plan for the coming year in which the ideals and objectives of the organization would be emphasized rather than the mechanics. Under this plan the association would meet in the evening only, with a speaker of high excellence as the feature of attraction. All business would be transacted during the executive board sessions unless the nature of the general membership.

Regular meetings would be held during the months of October, December, January, March and May, in the high school auditorium with a social hour and refreshments in the main hall immediately following the program. The purpose of the programs will be to stimulate the interest of the community in such topics as definitely affect the well-being and mental growth of the students in the school and the progress of the community as a whole. After a thorough discussion the board authorized the committee to formulate definite plans for such a program and to engage speakers for each month.

Dr. Warner asked the adoption of two major projects for the association during the coming year, as stressing as the first objective a determined effort to stimulate the interest and support of the community in the program, and the second a generous promotion of the student loan fund.

The board voted to set the first regular meeting for the second Thursday evening of October, at which time Dr. Frederic Woolner will be the speaker of the evening. All parents are cordially invited to the present and also others who are interested in the work of the organization.

Old-time Friends Will Share Annual Reunion Tomorrow

Shining lively anticipations of reminiscences of the past and pleasures of the present, a group of Santa Ana and Tustin friends of long standing, were today making their plans for an early departure tomorrow morning for Bel Air, where they will enjoy the hospitality of Mr. and Mrs. William L. Honnald, long-time residents of this community, who each year gather together a group of close friends for a happy reunion.

The Honnald estate at Bel-Air is an especially attractive one, set several acres in extent, and the friends who will assemble there tomorrow, are anticipating one of the al fresco luncheons which they have frequently enjoyed in this charming setting.

Motoring over from this vicinity will be Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Nau, Mr. and Mrs. Volney Tubbs and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Stevens of Tustin, Mrs. Horace Riggs, Mrs. Mary Rowley, Dr. and Mrs. P. R. Reynolds, Fred Rafferty, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Lyon, Mrs. Alice Harris and Mrs. Ella Hanna, all of whom will be joined at the Honnald home by Mr. and Mrs. Paul Shoup, Mr. and Mrs. Shively and Mrs. Ella Hanna.

Mrs. Alice Harris, whose home is now in Los Angeles, but who has been visiting in the home of her brother, Arthur Lyon, and with other friends here, just returned Wednesday from South Fork where she was a member of a house-party entertained there by Mrs. George S. Chapman.

Book Review Section Held Interesting Session

Convening in the D. E. Maloney home at 930 South Broadway, Wednesday afternoon, members of the Second Book Review section of the local society enjoyed a most interesting meeting. Mrs. Maloney, as leader, presided during the afternoon, and was assisted in her hostess duties by Mesdames W. L. Deimling, Emrys White, E. T. McFadden and W. H. DeWolfe.

Mrs. S. M. Davis gave the first review of the day with "The Edvardian" by Miss V. Sackville West as her subject. Interest in the author herself, aroused by Mrs. Davis' discussion was heightened when Mrs. M. C. Maloney followed with a descriptive sketch of the writer and her home as well.

That delightful volume dealing with the early days in California, "Camino Viejo" by T. E. Stephenson was reviewed by Mrs. Robert Northcross. Tea and a social hour concluded the afternoon's pleasures.

Guests of the section were Mrs. Aldric Worwick, Mrs. Percy R. Davis and Mrs. O. H. Knowlton.

Santa Ana Chapter
Having extended cordial invitation to Chispa chapter, O. E. S. of Anaheim, to be special guests at this week's meeting of Santa Ana chapter O. E. S. in Odd Fellows' hall, the host organization was more than pleased to greet 55 Chispa members including the worthy matron and patron, Mrs. Ruth Gregg and Russell Edwards. They were escorted to the east with Wishard Edwards of Fullerton, deputy grand matron, and Mrs. Eva Boyd of Anaheim, past grand treasurer.

During the routine business session of the chapter, attention of the members was called to an interesting coincidence in the marriage on the same date, Wednesday, September 17, of the "mother" of the chapter, Mrs. Helen V. Kellogg, to Dr. S. L. Aubin, and that of the "baby" of the chapter, Miss Charlotte Pritchard, youngest and newest member, and daughter of the worthy patron, Charles Pritchard, to John Lacy Taylor. The corps of officers joined in presenting a gift to the new Mrs. Taylor, while the chapter recognized the wedding with a suitable gift.

Arrangements were made for the attendance of the worthy and associate matrons at Grand chapter, to open in Oakland on October 20 and continue for the remainder of that week.

At the conclusion of the routine meeting, Mrs. Winnie Dean as general chairman of the evening's entertainment, directed members and guests to the banquet room, transformed into a flower garden for the serving of an appetizing refreshment course. During this interval, card tables were placed in the main lodge room, and an evening of bridge enjoyed. Desirable prizes were awarded Mrs. Pearl Lyon and Mr. Metcalf of Anaheim, each scoring high in their respective groups, with consolation gifts presented Mrs. Irene Willey and Lloyd Folger.

BEAUTIFUL SERVICE DRAWS MANY TO Y. W. C. A. PROGRAM

That the fulfillment of one's religion, termed by a prominent educator, "the conviction of life as a whole," is to be gained through the aid and inspiration of such organizations as the Y. W. C. A., was the theme of a forceful address by Mrs. Maynard F. Thayer of Pasadena, at the annual Candle Lighting service of the local Y. W. C. A. held in the First Methodist church last evening. The speaker is a nationally known worker in this rapidly rising organization and is a member of the state educational committee.

Preceding the dinner hour members of the active group, many of whose names are on the charter, gathered in the little chapel and took part in one of the most impressive ceremonies ever to hold setting in that charming spot. While Miss Peggy Warburton, talented young musician of the city, played beautifully modulated strains on her violin, accompanied by Miss Ruth Armstrong at the piano, the audience thronged to the chapel, until every seat was taken. Then as Mrs. Arthur May sang an exquisite solo, a hush seemed to steal over all, in preparation for the ceremony which has been termed by many as "the inspiration for the year's duties."

Mrs. Moffett Rhodes conducted the service, beautiful in itself, and enhanced by the effectiveness of candle light from tall tapers resting in bronze candelabra. Then as members left the chapel, each bearing a small lighted taper, they completed the "purifying service." Adjoining to the banquet room where a delectable dinner was served by members of the Methodist church, the group found tables adorned with the daintiest of late summer blossoms. About 200 participated in the delights of the dinner hour which included group singing led by Mrs. Irene Schopfke.

In introducing the speaker, Mrs. C. F. Smith, president of the Y. W. C. A. board, stressed the growth of the local organization and its accomplishments of the past year. The fact that Miss Maude Moore has been added to the staff of the month evidenced the widening scope of the association. Miss Nancy Elder, Y. W. secretary, gave a brief outline of the new program of the Y. W. C. A.

In giving her address, Mrs. Thayer cited a number of illustrations from events of national Y. W. C. A. conventions. She said in part, that the Young Women's organization is an endeavor to understand the changes of the modern world, and thus keep in touch with people from all walks of life who need the inspiration which the association is capable of giving. Each person must learn the value of deepening his job, so that he finds in it the true religion which Y. W. C. A. is expressing in their platforms of today, as of yesterday.

The scope of the organization is widening, and with the interest which all active members find in their fellow countrymen's welfare must come increased regard for the accomplishments of those of other lands.

Hostess Group
Hostesses throughout the evening were members of the board of directors and of the membership committee. Among these were Mrs. C. F. Smith, president of the board, Mrs. Earl Morris, chairman of the membership committee, and Mesdames T. E. Traxwick, W. W. Hoy, due ceremony, together with Helen Wishard Edwards of Fullerton, deputy grand matron, and Mrs. Eva Boyd of Anaheim, past grand treasurer.

During the routine business session of the chapter, attention of the members was called to an interesting coincidence in the marriage on the same date, Wednesday, September 17, of the "mother" of the chapter, Mrs. Helen V. Kellogg, to Dr. S. L. Aubin, and that of the "baby" of the chapter, Miss Charlotte Pritchard, youngest and newest member, and daughter of the worthy patron, Charles Pritchard, to John Lacy Taylor. The corps of officers joined in presenting a gift to the new Mrs. Taylor, while the chapter recognized the wedding with a suitable gift.

Arrangements were made for the attendance of the worthy and associate matrons at Grand chapter, to open in Oakland on October 20 and continue for the remainder of that week.

Small Group Enjoys Dinner Party

Charming in its informality was a little dinner party of Wednesday evening when Mr. and Mrs. F. J. Herschler were hosts in their home at 1137 South Van Ness avenue. A bowl of pom-pom dahlias in variegated colors centered the table, while other brilliant blooms were used throughout the rooms. A pleasant social time followed the appetizing menu courses. Two of the guests, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Sutter of Shelby, Ohio, had much of interest for the little group. They are the house guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Herschler, 1201 South Broadway. The hostess' mother, Mrs. Olaf Erickson, as the third guest sharing the hospitality of the home, has just returned from a five months' trip throughout the east.

Informal Bridge Club Was Result of Summer Pleasures

Desirous of continuing their informally delightful meetings which were held at the beaches during the summer months, members of a little club invited four others to join them Wednesday afternoon and form a group which is to meet throughout the winter. The party was held in the home of Mrs. Frank Dane at 904 North Flower street. Pom-pom dahlias and zinnias in a variety of brilliant colors enhanced the attractions of the rooms.

In line with the popular mode of the day, dessert was served as a prelude to the afternoon bridge. Results of the contest showed that Mrs. Earl Lepper held high score while Mrs. Noble Watson was consoled.

Original members of the group are Mesdames Philip LaLonde, Lou Bittle, Earl Neer and Noble Watson. Others are Mesdames Earl Lepper, Fern Bishop, Barney Brock and Frank Dane.

Weddings Household

Miscellaneous Shower Was Compliment to Miss Fern Flood

That friendly interest aroused in the engagement and October wedding of Miss Fern Flood and Norman Pixley, found delightful expression yesterday in a luncheon, bridge and miscellaneous shower with which Mrs. James P. Hermon and Mrs. Lloyd Chenoweth complimented the popular young bride-elect.

In bidding their friends to the attractive Hermon home on Newport Road, the hostesses planned an effective setting for the hospitality, stressing the bridal motif in luncheon details. Snowy linens were decorated with waxen tapers tied with white tulle, and rising from clear crystal candlesticks. A spray of orange blossoms lay at each place, the whole effect being one of marked charm and beauty.

Between the luncheon hour and that devoted to bridge, the guests had the enjoyable experience of watching the young honoree when she was led to a particularly lovely table laden with packages in wide variety, presided over by a daintily costumed bride wearing crystal paraffin glasses while a pair of artistic pottery candlesticks was the second prize falling to the lot of Mrs. Will A. Flood, mother of the honoree.

In the ensuing bridge contest, Mrs. Hugh Lowe scored high and was rewarded with a dozen clear crystal paraffin glasses while a pair of artistic pottery candlesticks was the second prize falling to the lot of Mrs. Will A. Flood, mother of the honoree.

Sharing the hospitality of Mrs. Hermon and Mrs. Chenoweth, were Miss Flood, her mother, Mrs. Will A. Flood, and her aunt, Mrs. Elsa Messler, recently arrived from Boston to spend the winter in the Southland; Mrs. Ray Chandler, Mrs. Lawrence Coffing, Mrs. J. A. George, Mrs. B. E. ## HEAVY TOLL OF LIFE TAKEN BY FIRES IN U. S.

NEW YORK, Sept. 26.—(INS)—Every 45 minutes of the day and night, a human being is burned to death in the United States, according to a bulletin issued here by the Henry Klein research laboratory, urging universal observation of Fire Prevention week, October 5 to 11.

"Every four minutes a home is swept by flames somewhere in this country," the bulletin sets forth, "while every day, on an average, five churches, 10 public buildings, including schools, 114 farms, three wood-working plants, five metal working establishments, seven clothing factories, and six food and food products plants suffer destructive fires."

"The importance of Fire Prevention week is spurring the public to increased vigilance against the hazards of conflagrations is apparent from the fact that fires will take 10,000 lives before the end of 1930, of whom 8,000 will be children under the age of 10. Fire will result in a property loss of half a billion dollars this year—a sum sufficient to pay for the building of Brooklyn bridge and to buy and run over it a stream of automobiles more than a thousand miles long."

"Most fires are of a preventable nature if care and precautions are observed. The subject of fire prevention is one which is engaging increasing study by experts in laboratories and science has come to the aid of home owners and business men by perfecting a process for rendering wood flame proof and fire resistant. Treated under this new flame proof process, wood is more effective in resisting fire, smoke, and poison gases than any other building material. Experts believe the possibilities of reducing fire losses through this discovery are infinite."

Fire Prevention Week, the bulletin concludes, is an occasion in which every effort should be made to focus the attention of every man, woman and child on the dangers to life and property lurking in fires and the methods by which fires can be prevented.

Erecting a Shrine in Your Kitchen.

Shrines are erected to all kinds and conditions of saints, so why not erect a shrine to the Kitchen Gods and have it in the shape of a hanging book case, and a convenient table for writing and a chair to sit in?

You have all seen those little unpainted wooden shelves which you can decorate to suit your own taste, small unpainted table and chair as well. Put them in some corner of the kitchen or breakfast nook, so that you can drop down and read for a minute while something is cooking, or jot down something you are listening to over radio when doing up the morning work. The table ought to have a drawer to hold paper, pens, etc. The book case should hold your collection of cook books and the current magazines whose recipes interest you.

And why should the telephone always be found in the hall? The housewife has to answer it most of the time, and for the rest of the time the family will find it just as convenient to sit in mother's favorite corner to telephone as to stand in the hall while someone is buzzing sweet nothings into their ear. If more service is wanted, why not an extension telephone upstairs? They are so inexpensive nowadays, it doesn't pay to run up and down stairs answering calls.

TAMALE PIE

1-2 pounds lean beef and 1/2 pound beef suet.
1-2 dozen ripe olives.
3 cloves garlic, minced.
1 green pepper, minced.
1 teaspoon chili powder.
1-4 (or more) cayenne pepper.
1 dozen raisins.
Salt and pepper to taste.
Hot water to boil meat.
2 tablespoons cornmeal.
Fry the fat out of the suet, dice the meat and brown it lightly and cook it tender. Cover with water and cook it tender. Estimate the water so that there will be sufficient broth to fill the baking dish. Grind the peppers and garlic very fine, add to the hot meat and thicken the broth slightly with corn meal. The seasonings, olives and raisins are now added and the crust for the filling prepared. Use—

2-3 cup lard
1 teaspoon salt
1 pint hot water
1 rounded cup of white cornmeal.

When the lard and water are boiling, add the salt and slowly sift in the cornmeal. Stir until the mixture is very thick and well cooked. When it has cooled a little line the sides and bottom of a buttered baking dish (reserving enough for the top crust) put in the prepared tamale filling, spread remaining crust mixture over top and bake in a hot oven 40 minutes.

Off set the starch and fat in this dish by serving cabbage, cauliflower, or spinach or some like vegetable. No potatoes, no bread unless it is impossible to get along without it. Combine salad and dessert in a fruit salad with plenty of crisp lettuce to garnish it.

"LITTLE ACCIDENT" WELL TAKEN HERE

Sally Blane, who plays a featured role in Universal's rollicking comedy-drama, "Little Accident," now showing at the Fox West Coast theater is one of a trio of sisters famous in the realm of motion pictures. The others are Loretta Young and Polly Ann Young. In addition to Miss Blane, "Little Accident" features Douglas Fairbanks Jr., Anita Page, Zasu Pitts, and Joan Marsh. The distinguished cast includes Roscoe Karns, Slim Summerville, Henry Armetta, and Myrtle Stedman.

The plot concerns a divorced husband who is about to be married again when his first wife gives birth to a son and is about to allow it to be adopted to outsiders. How he copes with the situation makes the picture particularly interesting.

A Fox Movietone news reel and an all-talking comedy also are shown.

The program plays at the theater for the last times today.

PRINCE AND PARENTS SPEAK DIFFERENTLY

LONDON, Sept. 25.—(INS)—"The pronunciation of the Prince of Wales is of that of a young man, and King George and Queen Mary talk a perfectly different type of English."

This was the statement made by F. G. Blandford, when lecturing on modern English pronunciation at Cambridge university.

"Most people in England who speak with a bad accent try to alter it for the better," he added, "but women are far more pliable than men in this respect."

"England always has the advantage that English people regard good speech as good manners."

"Our principle in pronunciation is to give the least shock to the least number."

"Many servant maids in England talk habitually the most correct English to their mistress. But immediately they return to the kitchen they relapse into the fruit-eat cockney."

Sedan chairs to transport bathers to and from the beach are among the plans being made by the exclusive set which winters at Aix-les-Bains, France. A search is being made for the chairs in England, where once they graced the halls of old mansions.

OPENS HERE TODAY

Jeanette MacDonald and Jask Buchanan in the Paramount all-talking picture, "Monte Carlo," which comes to the Fox Broadway theater today to run through Sunday.

'MONTE CARLO' NOW AT FOX-BROADWAY

"Monte Carlo," latest Paramount production, directed by Ernest Lubitsch, opens today at the Fox Broadway theater.

The picture, made on the order of "The Love Parade," which featured Maurice Chevalier here several weeks ago, stars Jack Buchanan, the English Chavaliere, and the picture as a whole is purported to be an even better production.

There are a number of tuneful airs in the picture, many of which are sung by Jeanette MacDonald, who also had the lead in "The Love Parade." It will be remembered.

Some of the songs are: "Always in All Ways," "Give Me a Moment Please," "Beyond the Blue Horizon," and "A Job With a Future."

Zasu Pitts, Tyler Brooks, Claude McAllister and Albert Conti have leading parts in the production and the dance and party scenes are particularly good.

The plot concerns the adventures in love of a countess and her hairdresser at Monte Carlo.

The first German glider to land on water recently underwent successful tests at Rositten, in East Prussia.

'OKLAHOMA CYCLONE' AT WALKER STATE

What is said to be the finest old real Spanish rancho and hacienda still remaining in Southern California offered the backdrops for Tiffany's talking picture of the old West, "Oklahoma Cyclone," starring Bob Steele and coming to Walker's State today.

Known to tourists as the "Couts Ranch," it is in reality the 200-year-old Rancho Guarjome. The present owner is the great-grandson of the man who built it. He has never before consented to allow it to be photographed.

PARIS AUTHOR TO WRITE ANONYMOUS

PARIS, Sept. 26.—Books without authors are about to be launched here.

For authors with a new and unexpected virtue—modesty—have proved to exist. They are willing to have their books published anonymously—and have become contributors to a new publishing house which will put out only anonymous works.

This new establishment is the venture of two Paris Americans, who are also to remain anonymous.

"Authors of today are forced to put themselves over—instead of putting the books across. It has become a matter of salesmanship and personality rather than of writing to be a popular writer," explain the founders of this new movement toward namelessness.

"The reader of a book is anonymous—why shouldn't the author be the same? Let his work be judged for itself alone—not on a best selling name or the lack of it."

The exponents of this new cult believe that it is only having its beginning in the field of literature—that it will spread and enter all other creative fields in time.

OCEANVIEW

OCEANVIEW, Sept. 27.—Thursday afternoon members of the eighth and seventh grades of the Oceanview school left here at 2 o'clock in the school bus for San Juan Capistrano to visit through the old mission, the present class work in history being that of early California. The 52 pupils, 19 of the eighth grade and 33 of the seventh grade were chaperoned on the pleasant trip by Miss Washburn, eighth grade teacher, and Joseph Geboner of the faculty. A picnic luncheon on the beach was a feature before the return trip in the evening.

The boys' team and girls' ball team of Oceanview played Buena Park at Buena Park Wednesday afternoon in the second game this term. The local girls won from Buena Park with a score of 8 to 7 and the boys lost on a score of 2 to 4.

The checking system which was inaugurated at the commencement of school for the school bus, is proving most satisfactory. The driver checks each child in and out of the bus, a special machine for this being in each bus. This data is then turned over to the principal of the school, who keeps the monthly tally.

Eighth grade girls arranged Monday evening for a social call upon their class teacher, Miss Washburn who served her guests delicious refreshments toward the close of the evening.

WESTMINSTER

WESTMINSTER, Sept. 26.—Westminster schools have two ball teams this term, one at the Westminster school and one at Hoover school, and on Wednesday the two played a game after school in which the Hoover boys won from the Westminster boys by a score of 19 to 16.

Mrs. A. J. Fogler and Mrs. Ross Fogler and two younger children spent Wednesday at Whittier with Mrs. A. J. Fogler's other daughter, Mrs. W. Graham.

GREAT BRITAIN OPTIMISTIC ON TRADE OUTLOOK

By F. A. WRAY
International News Service Staff
Correspondent

LONDON, Sept. 26. — A great wave of optimism is sweeping over Britain with regard to the future trade outlook.

Despite the fact that unemployment figures are still growing, the opinion is being expressed everywhere that the worst has been passed and that the immediate future looks bright.

"British industry is now at the beginning of a new period when, if properly guided, it should have before it a future of real expansion. Britain has now an opportunity to draw level again with the United States and Germany, but urgency and well-defined policy are required."

These conclusions are expressed in an international survey of trade conditions issued by the economic and statistical department of the British Electrical and Allied Manufacturers' Association.

Conditions necessary for trade revival are defined in the survey, as:

The abolition of Reparations and the resumption of foreign lending on a large scale by the United States and France which, between them, have absorbed the equivalent of the world's gold production since January, 1929.

Co-ordination between production, capital and distribution.

Imperial Rationalization, by co-operation with the Dominions in research, scientific development, and manufacturing enterprise.

"The only hope for prosperity in Great Britain," it is added, "is to be found in the recognition of the fact that some form of control is necessary, either through fiscal policy, or through Imperial rationalization."

The actual background of this, and many similar trade reports, is that the majority of people in Britain believe that a Conservative Government will be back in power next year and that the keynote of its policy will be fiscal co-operation with the British Dominions and a heavy import duty on all manufactured imported goods.

But there are other factors which lead Britain to believe that the long-awaited trade revival is at hand.

The first is the belief that the results of the American Stock Exchange smash last fall are now being overcome.

Then there is the fact that conditions in India and Egypt are definitely on the upgrade; whilst the conclusion of the debt negotiations with the Soviet may lead to an enormous increase in trade with that country.

It is also pointed out that Mexico, for years a storm center of political disturbance, seems to be settling down to industrial recuperation.

Her great oilfields, until recently moribund, are now producing, under British administration, ever-increasing quantities of petroleum, while the resumption of payment on external loans will, alone, put another $15,000,000 yearly into the pockets of British bondholders.

And then there is the recent great development in British possessions. Northern Rhodesia will shortly produce sufficient copper to make the British Empire independent of supplies from other sources. The Mount Isa mine in Queensland is expected shortly to supply the British Empire with its entire zinc supply; great gold mines are now being developed in Western Australia and New Guinea.

All these factors are helping in the anticipated great trade revival but the last item, is the growing feeling of confidence in the near future which is spreading over Britain, and which is leading to an enormous expansion of credit and thereby enterprise.

Three-fourths as many tourists visited Jamaica this season as last year.

STOP CONSTIPATION THE PLEASANT WAY

ONCE PEOPLE thought pills and drugs were the only way to relieve constipation. But the modern, safer method is to include sufficient roughage in the diet.

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN, a delicious ready-to-eat cereal, gives you this bulk, and overcomes constipation naturally. Read this enthusiastic letter:

"Mine was an extreme case of constipation. I had almost given up hope of ever being relieved."

"One day I came across your advertisement, so I thought I would try ALL-BRAN. It relieved me almost immediately and I have had no trouble since, which was almost three months ago."

Mrs. E. E. Leslie, 2164 Lyman St., Flint, Michigan.

Delicious when served with milk or cream. Cook into tasty bran muffins, breads, omelets, etc. ALL-BRAN also adds needed iron to the diet. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek. The original ALL-BRAN.

TAX CUTS FOR REAL ESTATE IS PLAN OF BOARDS

CHICAGO, Sept. 26. — (UP) — Possible reductions of real estate taxes and protection of property owners against unfair tax levies is the aim of the national movement toward organizing property owners with real estate men throughout the country.

A three-way membership basis for the organization is recommended by the National Association of Real Estate Boards. This plan would provide for local representation of interests of property owners through the local real estate board, representation in state legislation through the state association, and national representation through the national board.

Members of property owners divisions of real estate boards in the following nine cities already are affiliated with the National Property Owners Division: Asheville, N. C.; Madison, Wis.; Trenton, N. J.; Detroit and Pontiac, Mich.; Oak Park and Harvey, Ill.; New Orleans, La., and Redwood City, Cal.

An intensive research in the field of state and local taxation to determine feasible means of lessening the tax burden on real estate, is being conducted by the National Property Owners division in collaboration with the University of Chicago. In this investigation the National Association has secured cooperation of the United States Building and Loan League, the National Association of Building Owners and Managers and the Mortgage Bankers association of America.

The research is planned to determine the following questions:

1. Are state income taxes a method of relieving real estate of some of its tax burden?
2. Can sales taxes be used as a means of relief?

3. Are constitutional and statutory limitations on taxes and public indebtedness effective?

4. What miscellaneous city revenues can be developed to make the real estate levy more equitable?

Two examples of the way in which united property owners can protect their interests are cited by the National Association of Real Estate Boards.

In Illinois property owners divisions are drafting an amendment to the state constitution to remove the archaic limitation of tax uniformity. This limitation has allowed real estate to bear more than 75 per cent of the Illinois tax burden, in a state where real estate is estimated to represent less than 50 per cent of the state's wealth.

BUENA PARK

The home of Mr. and Mrs. S.

J. Coughran on South Grand avenue was the setting for a pleasant birthday party Wednesday evening, when anniversaries of Mrs. Coughran, son, Sammie, and sister-in-law, Mrs. Alma Gallagher, were observed.

SELF MADE MAN INSPECTS RAIL LINE IN RUSSIA

MOSCOW, Sept. 26. — What to Soviet Russia is a curious phenomenon—the American self-made man—rolled over every main trunk line in the country in a saloon car giving the young proletarian dictatorship advice about improving its railroad system.

This man was Ralph Budd, president of the Great Northern railroad. He was advertised as an engineer and a specialist. But one day on the trip, while Budd was stopping over a grimy section of the roadbed explaining to Russian engineers and workmen that the sleepers were too narrow and not thick enough, a locomotive engineer whispered to another American:

"Do you mean to tell me that Meester Budd was once a locomotive driver like myself?"

"Of course. Why do you ask?" the American replied.

"Because he is now a big capitalist and specialist." And then this Soviet engineer revealed the all-too-common misinformation prevalent in Russia that only under the Soviets can proletarians rise above their born level, while in capitalist countries the workmen are held down. He also could not recall a Russian engineer in the old days ever getting his hands dirty, to say nothing of a railroad president ever stopping to talk to common laborers.

"In the old days," the Russian engineer continued, "specialists came into the roundhouse to investigate a locomotive repair job dressed in white uniforms and white gloves, carrying a roll of carpet under their arms. This carpet was then rolled out on the floor of the pit and the specialists lay on it while examining the underside of the locomotive. This practice of preventing soiling of hands and clothes has not yet been wiped out entirely."

Budd was accompanied by his son, Ralph, Jr., Henry Dougan, W. R. Wood, S. E. Barrett. He said he was under no contract with the Soviet government. He was merely invited for an inspection trip of the Soviet railroads and to present a report outlining faults and suggesting both temporary and permanent improvements for the reconstruction of the entire system along American lines. The report, he said, would not be drafted until he returned to the United States. If the Soviets cared to make the suggested improvements, Budd said he would offer his services in ordering and hiring engineers in the United States.

The chief recommendations contained in the preliminary report, Budd outlined as follows:

Gradual reequipment of all roads with longer, heavier freight cars of almost double the capacity of the present cars.

Heavier and more powerful locomotives to haul the more economical longer trains.

Improvement of the roadbed by the use of 30 per cent more sleepers per mile and ballasting the roadbed with gravel instead of sand. Also heavier sleepers.

Equipping the new cars with automatic couplers and airbrakes.

Installation of automatic block signals and a radical reorganization of the dispatcher system, which is largely responsible at present for the slow movement of trains and an appalling number of wrecks.

"It is a common occurrence," Mr.

Budd said, "that countries which are the poorest waste the most. With a tremendous shortage of iron and steel I saw old rails used for safety gates at almost every crossing and telephone and telegraph poles bolted to two old rails buried deep in the ground. In a country with unlimited timber resources, money has been saved by thin and weak wooden sleepers only to waste many times as much on the heavier rails which are needed as a result of the economies on wood."

Budd realized that the cost of carrying out these recommendations at once would exceed the capital resources of the government. His report will therefore contain a list of immediate low-cost improvements which he regards absolutely necessary to pull the railroads out of the rut.

HOLLY SUGAR

Is Ideal for Canning and Preserving

"Cane and Beet Sugar.—In numerous tests made by the Fruit Products Laboratory, beet sugar was found to give results equal to those of cane sugar. The prejudice against beet sugar is no longer warranted. It is identical chemically with cane sugar. Beet sugar is equally as good as cane sugar for jellies and preserves and is used by many canners and preservers."—(Extract from Circular 276 on Home Canning, of the U. of C. # THE TINYMITES

STORY BY HAL COCHRAN — PICTURES BY KNICK
REG. U. S. PAT. OFF.

The horses on the tallyho seemed very glad to prance and go along the pretty highway that wound here and there through Bernese. The Travel Man explained the sights to all the happy Tinymites. Said Scouty, "Gee, the more we see, the more there is to learn. And that's just why I always like to ride or fly or maybe hike in cities all around the world. We're smarter every day. It seems that every time I look at something I could write a book. I'd do it, too, but it would take too much off my play."

"Ha, ha! You're funny," Clowny cried. "Book writing you have never tried. I'd like to read a book you'd write. I'll bet I'd laugh out loud!" And then the Travel Man said, "Say! Let's stop the quarreling for today. 'Tis better not to argue, but just be a happy crowd."

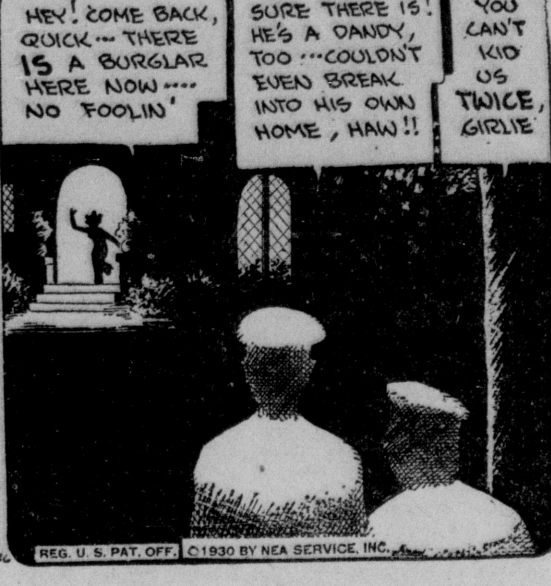

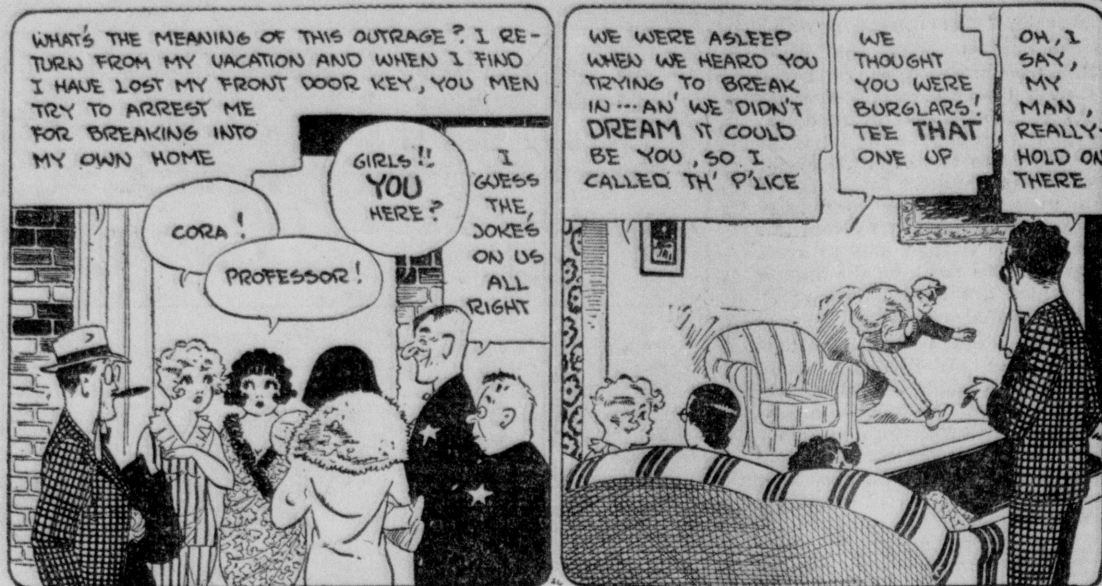

And so each Tiny spread a smile and thus they rode around a while.

Missing Letter Links

RULES

1. In playing golf on the Missing Letter Links the object is to change one word to another in a given number of strokes which is par. For example, to go from TEE to PIN in three strokes sounds hard but isn't: TEE-TIE-PIE-PIN. It's probably more difficult on a real course.

2. Change but one letter at a time and be sure the word you have used is one in good usage.

3. The order of the letters cannot be changed.

KEEP to WORD — KEEP to WORD provides today's letter links hole but you must also keep your word and not get excited over it in order to shoot a par four. Tomorrow: Solution of today's puzzle. Here is our solution of Thursday's puzzle: GIFT, SIFT, SOFT, SOOT, SHOT, SHOP. (Copyright, 1930, The Bell Syn., Inc.)

In the presence of German and Japanese Buddhists, a Japanese priest of the Zen sect recently held a Buddhist service at Berlin-Frohman, Germany.

SHERLOCK HOLMES—Silver Blaze

Colonel Ross Mystified

BY SIR ARTHUR CONAN DOYLE

Colonel Ross was excited and anxious, contrasting strongly with the imperturbable calm of Sherlock Holmes, as the moment for the great race approached.

"There are the numbers up," I cried. "They are all six there!"

"Then my horse is running!" cried the Colonel. "But my colors have not passed..."

Just as Colonel Ross spoke, a powerful bay emerged from the weighing enclosure, its jockey in the well-known Ross colors of black and red.

"That is not my horse!" shouted the owner. "There's not a white hair on him. What is this you have done, Mr. Holmes!"

"Well, well, let us see how he gets on," said my friend calmly. For a few minutes he gazed through my field glasses. "An excellent start," he reported. "There they are, coming round the curve..."

As they came up the straight, the six horses were so close together a blanket would have covered them. Then the Desborough forged ahead. But his bolt was soon shot, and the Colonel's horse, coming away with a rush, passed the post to win by six lengths!

EVENING SALUTATION

To live beneath sorrow, one must yield to it.

—MME. DE STAEL.

AUTOHAVENS

Automobile tourists who go far afield must be impressed with the provisions increasingly made for their convenience and their pleasure. Hotels have been wholly inadequate in numbers and equipment to take care of this seasonal demand made upon them by the tourist. At the same time there has been a growing tendency for the tourist to furnish a considerable amount of his own equipment while en route, depending only upon the provision of lodgings for the night and occasional light lunches.

By reason of this changed situation there has sprung up all over the country comfortable provision for the tourist. We are all familiar with the gas stations and lunch rooms all along the roads, as "thick as the leaves that strow the vales of Vallambrosa." Following this came the overnight cabins, which have been growing in numbers and in homelike facilities. Comfortable beds, electric lights, running water, and even a Tom Thumb course for the older folk and swings and teeters for the kiddies increasingly await the tourist. Now a system of autohavens is being planned for, where the tourist may not only find food and lodging for the night, but also well-equipped garages. One will find them already scattered quite thickly through the sparsely peopled regions which the auto tourist travels.

One has only to recall auto travel ten years ago, with weaker tires, dusty roads, infrequent gas stations, poor night accommodations except in the larger centers, and poor garage service, to appreciate how much better off we are today than we were then. And the end of comforts is not yet. Each year sees some new contrivance to make touring a real joy. These newly planned autohavens will make it possible for everyone to travel with pleasure and security. Ladies, as well as gentlemen, will be able to travel in their finest clothes and arrive at their destinations without being compelled to "get out and under" as in the former days.

A writer wonders what would become of financial and business experts if it were not for Gen. Trend and Maj. Turn. He should not forget Gen. Motors.

MORGAN THE MAGNIFICENT

John H. Winkler, the author of the life of John D. Rockefeller, has now written a life of the late J. Pierpont Morgan. He characterizes him as "Morgan the Magnificent." No man wielded greater power in the financial and industrial world than J. Pierpont Morgan. He wrested the control of finance from such freebooters as Jay Gould, Daniel Drew, and Jim Fiske, and at least gave it a position of respectability. He was the first financier who saw the vision of big business, and his organization of the steel trust was the forerunner of all those mergers which have made the private ownership of big business almost a thing of the past.

There are two things that stand out in the life of this great financier. He was a constructive genius, not a wrecker, as were the financial leaders he supplanted. Perhaps he possessed more power than one man ought to have in a democracy. The panic of 1907 proved that he could almost make or break a president of the United States. A man of less vigor than President Roosevelt would have been compelled to bow to the power held by Mr. Morgan during that period. The second factor about Mr. Morgan was that he was not in it for himself. He might have died the richest man in the country, but when he passed on he was in the second rank of the rich men of the country. His estate amounted to $68,000,000, a very comfortable competence to be sure, but small compared with the amount gathered by the Rockefellers, the Bakers, the Carnegies, and others who never wielded the power in the financial world that Morgan did. Morgan might have been the richest man in the world had he chosen to be; but his passion for constructive organization and financial control surpassed his passion to accumulate.

If there was something to condemn in the Morgan method, there was also much to admire. With him began the era of financial chastening which has resulted in the social foundations which have meant so much in the fields of education, medicine, and social and scientific research.

"Football" should be spelled with capital letters this season. Just for the sake of over-emphasis.

THE DETROIT ELECTION

In many quarters there is feeling expressed over a possible development of sentiment on behalf of the so-called "Reds."

The Communists of our country more nearly approximate the minds of the Russian people than any other political organization. Detroit just at the present time, with its thousands of unemployed, is the most fruitful field for the seeds of discontent to grow into Communist votes, and yet it hasn't done it, for Detroit has just had an election.

They have had a recall of their mayor, and the Communists put a candidate in the field. A very large vote was recorded there. And yet, what was the result? Only one man in 100 in Detroit voted for the Communist candidate. Now this was in an industrial center, in a terrible depression, with thousands of men out on the sidewalk.

In the light of this we cannot help having faith in the stability of American institutions. We refuse to be stampeded. Some one has said that there are not enough Communists in the country to overturn an apple cart. Metaphorically speaking, this is true.

CAMPAIGN EXPENDITURES IN CALIFORNIA

As compared with Illinois and Pennsylvania and Massachusetts and some other states, California may take pride in the fact that the cost of getting a nomination to high office is very small indeed. Ruth McCormick admits spending over $250,000 to get the nomination for Senator in Illinois. Nominations in the other states have run into the hundreds of thousands. Here in California, in a heated and closely contested campaign for the governorship, the winning candidate spent $13,981, and Governor Young spent $7,231 in his effort to keep his office. Of course, more was probably spent than these figures imply. But the same may be said of the expenditures in the other states named.

What is true of California is equally true of most of the states here in the far west of our country. As yet we do not have the large concentrations of capital here. The men of great wealth are still more or less massed in the states east of the Mississippi. It may be that the amounts spent here in the far West are comparatively as taxing upon the resources of the candidates as the larger amounts spent to the East of us. But then there are more men and women of this mediate wealth among us than there are these very rich multi-millionaires of the East. The struggle is possibly for the comparatively many here as contrasted with the comparatively few in the East.

"This is just another hot wave," said the jazz orchestra leader as he beckoned his musicians to begin to play.

THE NEW CONGRESSIONAL APPORTIONMENT

As is quite generally known, there is to be a new apportionment of seats in Congress after March 4, 1931. By this new apportionment, California is to gain nine seats in the Congress which follows the one to be elected in November. The next beneficiary of the new apportionment is Michigan, which gains four seats, followed by Texas, which gains three. Strange to say, New York, which had almost as large an increase of population as California, receives an increase of but two seats, while Pennsylvania, which registers a gain of nearly 2,000,000, loses two seats.

It takes somewhat of a mathematician to understand this whole apportionment question. In its simplest terms, it may be stated that each state to start off is given one representative, regardless of population. Then, by a system of divisions of the total by one and a half, two and a half, three and a half, etc., a common denominator is struck, and the seats assigned to the states. A quota of 280,672 of the population has been set for each member of Congress. The total population of the state is divided by that number, and the quotient is the number of seats to which that state shall be entitled. If, however, the remainder is more than half that number in any state, an additional seat is given.

California will be a good state for Congressional aspirants to emigrate to, with nine seats to be added. However, we suspect that we will have enough aspirants of our own local production.

These Divers Must Be Able to Sniff Treasure

San Francisco Chronicle
One of the greatest treasure hunts in history is nearing a successful close in the Atlantic ocean off the coast of France. After a search of the ocean bed for nearly two years the Italian divers who performed such marvels with the wreck of the Belgian steamer, Elizabethville, have found and identified the sunken P. and O. liner Egypt and are preparing to bring up from her strong room her $5,000,000 worth of bullion.

In 1923 the Egypt was sunk in collision at night and in the fog thirty miles off Ushant. Under the circumstances the location of the wreck was not precisely known. When it is realized that she lies 400 feet deep the feat of finding her must stand forth as unparalleled in the history of diving and of salvage.

An fact that these Italian divers go down to her and come up again as easily and as quickly as if they were riding in a passenger elevator in an office building tells of an equipment that would be unbelievable to the old-time diver. No "bends" for these undersea workers. Their diving suits are solid steel cases from which they operate with almost uncanny mechanical hands. And they do not depend upon air lines since they carry their own air compressed in cylinders.

It is understood that the work these Italians have done so far in the Atlantic is only in the nature of practice for an attempt on the Lusitania. That should focus the attention of the world.

Cup to Game Loser, Sir Thomas

Pasadena Star-News
One of the happiest suggestions in many a day is that which came from Will Rogers, comedian and philosopher, that the American people pour a shower of dollars into New York, to Mayor James Walker, with which to buy a loving cup to be presented to Sir Thomas Lipton. This is to be a token of affection, esteem and admiration from the American people to the world's greatest sportsman and most cheerful loser. As Will Rogers observed, Sir Thomas has made "losing worth while."

Small wonder that contributions are descending upon New York in a veritable deluge. The cynical may say that this is money wasted, giving a cup to a man who is a multi-millionaire. The cynics are wrong. One dollar is a small sum indeed for any man, woman or child to invest in an inspiring, uplifting sentiment. For the pluck and courage and gameness and cheerful losing which the American people see in Sir Thomas Lipton, the yachtsman, is the same species of pluck and courage and gameness and cheerful losing which they see and admire in men, women and children in everyday life.

It is of tremendous moral worth to the United States to have the American people quickened in appreciation of the values of the rugged virtues which Sir Thomas Lipton exhibits, even though he displays these virtues in sports. Human life is very like a game, anyway, and a game-like yachting, or baseball, or football—is very much like life.

More Truth Than Poetry

By James J. Montague

A WORD OF CRITICISM

This psychology may be all right in novels which deal with queer and curious sons of earth. Whose uncontrolled emotions are the product of the notions which their parents entertained before their birth. But when I go down town to see the "speakeasies," I do not care for esoteric stuff. I like the good old fashion of fine incandescent passion And when heroes I behold, I like 'em rough.

I never think the lineage of a villain ought to matter in the way he plays his part. I like to see him swagger, and be deft with gun and dagger. Though I know that such behavior is not art. I like to watch him steal the hero's girl-friend. And remove, her pale and fainting to his den. And I often wish he'd carry her to the village church and marry her For those villains, after all are real he-men.

Today we get our speakies from the highbrows Who seek to bare the workings of the mind. But I find that their creations are but splotchy imitations Of the real old brutal, fighting human kind. They deal too much with impulse and reaction Which may, for pallid highbrows, seem all right, But I find shows more exciting which contain a lot of fighting, For there's nothing like a good two-fisted fight.

We may perhaps know more about the motives That make human beings cowardly or bold Than the men who clothed the drummer with its aureole of glamor In the past, but forgotten, days of old. But the playthings who are working for the "speakies" Do not seem to me to understand the trick. There's too much of diagnosis of the thing they call psychosis And it always leaves the film without a kick.

Buried Treasures

By WILLIAM TRUFANT FOSTER and WADDILL CATCHINGS

Every month this year the banks have had custody of surplus savings. For the time being these savings have been buried treasures. They have done no more to open closed factories and employ idle men than gold in the bowels of the earth.

Low interest rates tell the story. Reduced volume of money in circulation tells the same story. The fact that somebody might have borrowed these savings, and put them back into circulation, did not do a single dollar's worth of business.

Banks cannot act without customers. Loans are not made without borrowers. And it is precisely in times like the present, when we need more money in circulation, that borrowers hang back.

Yet many men still cling to the old belief that no nation can save too much. UNLIMITED THRIFT is still preached as the gospel of prosperity. Thus the fallacy of Adam Smith and John Stuart Mill still obstructs trade.

The mistake of these old economists is easy to see. Nobody needs to comprehend Einstein's theories, or any other theories, in order to see that people do not, automatically, save just the right amount.

Two suppositions will expose this old fallacy: First, suppose that the people of the United States should spend, in October, five dollars per capita more than they spent this month, and save five dollars less. If they did, trade would pick up at once. Production and employment in the coming winter would make new high records.

Now make a contrary assumption. Suppose that in October the people should save, on the average, five dollars more, and spend five dollars less. If they did, business would collapse. Depression in the coming winter would be so deep that the depression of last winter, in contrast, would seem like the heights of the Alps. Evidently there is no virtue in unlimited saving. Certainly, there is no virtue in unlimited spending. Prosperity depends on the right balance between saving and spending.

Right now the balance can be restored only by more spending. (Copyright, 1930, McClure's Newspaper Syndicate)

Thoughts On Modern Life

By GLENN FRANK

BEWARE THE CROWD MIND!

I have said that the American future depends upon the free minds of first-class men, but that the first-class man finds it harder and harder to maintain freedom of thought and action against the increasing crowd-mindedness of contemporary America.

What is this crowd-mind of which I have been speaking directly and indirectly all this week? Let me retouch and relate to our current situation and needs a picture of the crowd-mind I painted for the readers of these essays about four years ago.

The crowd-mind is at every point a treacherous guide! More than twenty years ago, in his Social Psychology, which I wrestled with as an undergraduate, Edward Elsworth Ross charged the crowd with instability, credulity, irrationality, simplicity, and immorality. The two decades of American experience that have since gone by have not invalidated this five-fold indictment of the crowd. Let me reduce the long words of this indictment to simple terms.

The crowd-mind is unstable. It falls an easy victim to emotional epidemics. It is whipped about by every wind of doctrine. It is easily bamboozled by the designing.

The crowd-mind is credulous. The demagogue can impose upon it dogmas that would never pass muster before the straight-thinking individual. It is not given to cross-examining programs that bid for its support.

The crowd-mind is irrational. It feels rather than thinks. It does not reason from cause to effect when faced by a situation upon which it must pass judgment.

The crowd-mind is simple. It thinks in catchwords. It is baffled by complexities. It over-simplifies both the diseases and the remedies of its time.

The crowd-mind is immoral. It lacks a sense of moral responsibility for its conclusions and actions. The crowd will indulge in judgments and actions against which the majority of its members, if reacting independently, would revolt as indefensible.

I realize that an anarchic individualism is impossible and undesirable in our necessarily interdependent society, but I insist that the current crowding of the American mind is driving even strong men into an uncritical boot-licking of the powers that be which cannot but mean a drying up of the well-springs of social creativeness. For it is only through the free minds of first-class men that we can keep a stream of fresh and fertilizing thought playing upon the social and economic issues in the solution of which the secret of the American future lies locked.

Tomorrow I want to consider the problem of putting effective restraints upon this growing crowd-mindedness of an America that cannot afford to let the free and creative minds of its first-class men be hampered and ironed out by crowd prejudices.

OUR CHILDREN

By ANGELO PATRI
THE DEEP CAUSE

When a child habitually fails to come up to the standard of his group we must search carefully for the deep cause. I mean by that we must try earnestly to find the force that is influencing the child for evil.

I believe that while children are born with a set of traits, some more positive than others, they must depend upon their environment for the development or the suppression of those characteristics.

I believe too, that it is usually possible to suppress any characteristic if the force of the environment is strong enough. Good gifts and had were wished upon the children at their birth but there is always the hope of growth.

Now if a child was born with a tendency to fear, it is possible to strengthen either his courage or his fear by using his environment. By environment I mean every force that touches his life, sky and earth and water and all that dwell therein. If the surroundings of the home are threatening, if there are people—parents and relatives and friends included along with the teachers—who make a child afraid, fear grows strong and courage fades away.

If a child has a hidden physical defect, hidden because we have not the skill to read the signs correctly, all sorts of trouble arise. Piffing, lying without rhyme or reason, laziness when every incentive to work has been offered, yawningness in every sort of form—all have a deep cause usually in the physical being. The doctors are only beginning to search this field. Some of them are very skillful in it now and they can be found in the clinic and children's hospitals. Their service should be enlisted for the children who are falling. They must be asked to discover the deeper causes of the deficiencies and failures. Poor vision, poor hearing, a bad tooth, a gland out of order any physical defect that is permitted to exist for any length of time will cause poor behavior.

Then instead of asking what punishment can be measured out to fit the needs of the erring child, let us seek for the deep cause of his behavior. It is not enough to say he is stupid, lazy, inattentive, disobedient. A label never cures a defect. Indeed its weight tells heavily on

THE HOLY ALLIANCE

On Sept. 26, 1815, the Holy Alliance was formed between Russia, Austria and Prussia.

The league was formed after the fall of Napoleon, at the insistence of Alexander I of Russia, to regulate the relations of the states of Christendom by the principles of Christian charity.

Alexander drew up the document, which was signed by the three rulers in Paris. In addition to the original signatories, Naples, Sardinia, France and Spain acceded to the treaty. It received the commendation, but not the signature of the Prince Regent of Great Britain.

The document was formally made public the following year. As formed in the mind of Alexander, the league was the scheme of an idealist, but it was utilized by Metternich as an instrument of his reactionary policy.

It was in the name of the Holy Alliance that Austria, in 1821, crushed the revolutions in Naples and Piedmont and that France two years later restored absolutism in Spain.

Apart from this use, one writer has said, "No one of the princes who adhered to the Holy Alliance, with the single exception of Alexander himself, ever took it seriously."
